Full analysis

Overview

The website presents a Pretrial Intervention program associated with the 19th Judicial District Attorney, offering enrolled defendants educational coursework, account access, course completion, payment of a fee after passing an examination, and certificate issuance.

Scam/Impersonation Risk

No contradictions were observed. The homepage is coherent with a government or public-service program, attributes the initiative to the District Attorney's Office, and contains no detected phishing, impersonation, or other page-level fraud indicators. External reputation checks did not identify malicious or blacklist status; one isolated suspicious classification was unconfirmed and was not supported by broader malicious findings. The available historical record also shows continuity rather than suspicious repurposing, although it does not independently prove the operator's real-world identity.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage is titled “Pretrial Intervention – 19th Judicial District Attorney” and contains program-specific guidance, including course enrollment, examination, fee payment, and certificate issuance.
- Historical records show 18 archive snapshots from 2019-07-16 through 2026-04-15, spanning 8 tracked years.
- External reputation checks recorded no malicious detections, no blacklist hit, and one unconfirmed suspicious result.

Regulatory Verification Notes

The site’s apparent function is a public-service educational program, not a financial service or investment offering. Its pages identify the 19th Judicial District Attorney’s Office and quote a message attributed to District Attorney Hillar C. Moore, III, but the real-world operator identity remains independently unverified; those on-site references should therefore be treated as stated affiliations rather than proof of control. The supplied pages do not present a license claim or license number. For this apparent government-service model, that is a transparency and confirmation point—not evidence of a scam—and any applicable authority should be confirmed through the relevant public office.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage identifies the program as being offered by the 19th Judicial District Attorney’s Office and includes a message attributed to District Attorney Hillar C. Moore, III.
- The domain was registered on 2017-07-31 and is 9.05 years old; the registrar is GoDaddy.com, LLC.
- The site is served from AS54641, IMH-IAD - InMotion Hosting, Inc., US.
- The site’s TLS certificate is issued by Sectigo Public Server Authentication CA DV R36, uses DV validation, and is valid to 2026-11-04T23:59:59+00:00.

What to Verify Next

Before credential or payment interactions, the program’s domain authorization should be confirmed through an independently sourced contact route for the 19th Judicial District Attorney’s Office or through the relevant case officer. The applicable course fee, certificate process, and payment or refund terms should also be confirmed independently, with payment protections retained where available.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage provides “LOG IN,” “GET STARTED,” “SUPPORT,” and “CONTACT US” pathways for the stated program workflow.
- The page describes payment by credit card after successful course completion and issuance of a certificate.
- The supplied content identifies the program and sponsoring office but does not independently verify operator control.

Summary Verdict

Available evidence is consistent with an established, apparently legitimate public-service website and supports a high-trust, low-risk posture. The conclusion concerns the site’s observed legitimacy signals; it does not establish the real-world identity or institutional control of the operator.

Infrastructure Integrity

Hosting resolves directly to AS54641 operated by InMotion Hosting, Inc. in the United States, with no CDN detected and one likely origin address identified. The site’s direct hosting arrangement is not itself an adverse indicator; its valid Sectigo transport certificate provides a baseline protective control, while the infrastructure does not independently prove institutional legitimacy.

Closing Assessment

Ordinary use is proportionate to the available risk assessment, while independent confirmation of institutional authorization and applicable payment terms should precede credential submission or payment.

About this assessment

A trust score summarises the evidence TrustSniffer could collect about 19thjda.com at assessment time. It is a starting point for your own judgement, not a guarantee: a high score means the signals were consistent with a legitimately operated site, a low or critical score means several risk patterns were present.

TrustSniffer assesses a website from the evidence it can collect at a point in time: domain registration and age, hosting and certificate, the content the site served, and third-party reputation feeds. A score is a summary of that evidence, not a guarantee and not a legal finding. There is no human rating and no user review in it. A site can change after it is assessed.
