Full analysis

Overview

This website is the multilingual institutional website of Atatürk University, presenting academic programs, admissions information, research activities, university news, student and employee services, contact details, and links to institutional resources. Its apparent purpose is to provide official public information and administrative access for a public university rather than to sell products or offer financial services.

Scam/Impersonation Risk

No contradictions were observed: the available evidence shows no phishing, impersonation, confirmed blacklist, or malicious-content indicators. The site identifies itself as Atatürk University and presents a coherent institutional structure covering admissions, research, academic units, news, and student services, with links to five major social platforms and recognized academic resources. Interaction behavior did include hidden forms across the observed runs, but no login form, externally submitted password form, wallet connection, wallet-drainer behavior, clipboard hijacking, or suspicious inline scripting was detected; this limits the significance of that finding and does not establish an impersonation concern.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage presents the Atatürk University identity, institutional navigation, academic services, research information, news, and contact resources.
- The observed interaction behavior recorded hidden forms in 2 runs, while recording 0 password-external forms, 0 wallet-connect runs, and 0 wallet-drainer runs.
- The domain was registered on 1997-10-21 and is 28.84 years old.
- External reputation checks recorded 0 malicious and 0 suspicious detections; the domain is ranked 15197 globally and is within the top 1 million.

Regulatory Verification Notes

The website's presentation is consistent with a public university and not with a financial or brokerage business. The supplied pages do not identify a financial-services license, regulator, or license number; this is a disclosure item to clarify only if a regulated activity is being assessed, and it is not evidence of a scam in the context of the university's stated purpose. The institutional identity is supported by the site's detailed academic content, official contact information, research links, multilingual navigation, and connected social presence, although the real-world operator identity remains likely rather than independently verified. No broker-profile match was identified as contextual third-party reputation information.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage and linked institutional pages cover admissions, academic services, research centers, news, events, and international collaboration.
- The site's transport encryption uses a DV certificate issued by YR2, valid through 2026-10-20T20:51:18+00:00.
- Hosting is provided through AS9121, TNet - Turk Telekomunikasyon Anonim Sirketi, TR.
- The contact and institutional-resource areas provide university contact details and links to academic resources including TÜBİTAK, Web of Science, Scopus, PubMed, and ScienceDirect.

What to Verify Next

For formal institutional, procurement, or regulated-use decisions, confirm the university's status and the relevant administrative contact details through an independently obtained official education or government registry. Before credential or payment interactions, independently confirm that the relevant service, return or cancellation terms, and payment-protection arrangements are appropriate to the transaction; contact channels should likewise be validated through an offline or independently sourced institutional route.

EVIDENCE

- The site provides a dedicated contact page and institutional-resource links that can be compared with independently sourced university records.
- The site exposes student, employee, officer, email, and administrative-service entry points, making service-specific confirmation appropriate before sensitive use.
- The public-facing homepage contains no commercial sales workflow or sensitive form submission.

Summary Verdict

Available evidence is consistent with an established, apparently legitimate university website and supports a high-trust, low-risk posture. The conclusion is strong at the website level, while the real-world operator identity is not independently verified and should not be treated as proven solely from on-site claims.

Infrastructure Integrity

The site resolves through direct hosting rather than a detected CDN or WAF, with one identified address and a conventional Turkish telecommunications hosting environment. This provides less intermediary shielding than an edge-protected deployment, but the resolved infrastructure and valid TLS configuration are coherent with the site's established institutional presentation; the infrastructure does not by itself establish legitimacy.

EVIDENCE

- The site resolves to 95.0.242.18, with 1 unique IP and 0 detected edge IPs.
- No CDN or WAF vendor was detected.
- The hosting country is TR and the registry is RIPE NCC.

Closing Assessment

Routine informational browsing is proportionate to the available evidence; before submitting credentials or making any payment, ordinary independent checks of the specific service and its protections should be completed.

About this assessment

A trust score summarises the evidence TrustSniffer could collect about atauni.edu.tr at assessment time. It is a starting point for your own judgement, not a guarantee: a high score means the signals were consistent with a legitimately operated site, a low or critical score means several risk patterns were present.

TrustSniffer assesses a website from the evidence it can collect at a point in time: domain registration and age, hosting and certificate, the content the site served, and third-party reputation feeds. A score is a summary of that evidence, not a guarantee and not a legal finding. There is no human rating and no user review in it. A site can change after it is assessed.
