Full analysis

Security Alert

Sophos flagged this site in external intelligence checks, indicating elevated compromise/scam exposure that requires immediate caution.

The website presents itself as the Arwal district portal of the Bihar Education Project Council, offering public-sector information on elementary-education programs, news and notices, recruitment, tenders, school resources, and contact details rather than commercial products or financial services.

Scam/Impersonation Risk

The site's informational presentation is internally consistent with a government or education portal: the homepage identifies "BEP ARWAL" and describes the Bihar Education Project Council, while its navigation covers programs, recruitment, tenders, notices, and public resources. However, this benign page content conflicts with serious external threat intelligence: the domain is blacklisted, and multiple evaluated sources recorded malicious detections, including a Tier-1 detection. No page-level phishing form, credential-harvesting mechanism, financial solicitation, brand-impersonation pattern, or suspicious browser behavior was observed, but those observations do not resolve the external reputation contradiction. The appropriate posture is therefore to treat sensitive interaction with the site as unsafe despite its official-looking content.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage describes BEP Arwal as an organization supporting universal elementary education in Arwal, Bihar, and provides links for programs, notices, recruitment, tenders, and contact information.
- External reputation assessment recorded 9 malicious detections from 14 evaluated results and a confirmed blacklist status; one Tier-1 threat detection was also recorded.
- The site's behavioral capture recorded no login form, hidden sensitive form, external password submission, wallet connection, clipboard manipulation, or cloaking activity.

Regulatory Verification Notes

The website makes a public-sector identity claim by associating itself with the Bihar Education Project Council and describing district education functions, but the real-world operator identity remains unverified. Ownership and governance disclosures are not sufficiently established in the supplied evidence, and no license or registration number is claimed; this is relevant as an identity and disclosure gap rather than proof of fraud. The site does not present a regulated financial business model, and the available broker-reputation context contains no matching record. The external blacklist and malicious detections remain the decisive trust concern, while the site's public-service content provides useful context but cannot authenticate the operator.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage identifies "Bihar Education Project Council (BEPC) - Arwal" and states that the council has district offices across Bihar with its main office in Patna.
- Domain registration records show registration on 2013-09-18 and an age of 12.93 years, with GoDaddy.com, LLC listed as registrar.
- The site's transport encryption uses a DV certificate issued by YE2, valid through 2026-11-04.

What to Verify Next

Before any account, credential, document, or other sensitive interaction, an institution should independently confirm that the domain is an officially authorized web address through a government or education-department source that was obtained separately from the site. The stated district-office affiliation should also be confirmed through an independently sourced telephone number or official directory, and any recruitment or tender communication should be matched against the relevant government publication channel. Sensitive actions should remain suspended unless those checks reconcile the site's identity and the external reputation findings.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage publishes the organization description, district-office claim, notices, recruitment material, tenders, and a contact number that can be checked through an independent official channel.
- The page analysis found no visible payment, investment, or credential-submission workflow, so verification should focus on authenticity of the portal and any linked documents rather than a commercial transaction model.
- The site has a low page-authority result and lacks detected structured metadata, which reduces the usefulness of the website itself as an independent source of institutional authentication.

Summary Verdict

The overall posture is critical trust risk with sensitive-interaction risk. The site appears to provide legitimate-looking public education information, but that appearance is outweighed by confirmed external reputation contradictions and the absence of independently verified operator identity. It should not be treated as an authenticated official portal for sensitive activity.

Infrastructure Integrity

The site is hosted directly through AS-HOSTINGER, Hostinger International Limited, CY, on AS47583, with infrastructure located in Ukraine; no CDN or WAF edge layer was identified. Direct hosting does not by itself indicate maliciousness, but it provides limited protective separation between the website and its hosting environment. The observed TLS certificate is domain-validated rather than organization-validated, so encryption of the connection should not be interpreted as confirmation of institutional ownership.

Closing Assessment

Treat the domain as unsuitable for login, credential submission, document exchange, or other sensitive use unless independent official-channel checks first establish that it is authorized and that the reputation contradiction has been resolved.

About this assessment

A trust score summarises the evidence TrustSniffer could collect about beparwal.org at assessment time. It is a starting point for your own judgement, not a guarantee: a high score means the signals were consistent with a legitimately operated site, a low or critical score means several risk patterns were present.

TrustSniffer assesses a website from the evidence it can collect at a point in time: domain registration and age, hosting and certificate, the content the site served, and third-party reputation feeds. A score is a summary of that evidence, not a guarantee and not a legal finding. There is no human rating and no user review in it. A site can change after it is assessed.
