Full analysis

Overview

Brizko is a B2B logistics and distribution platform presenting route optimization, inventory visibility, MX–USA cross-border logistics, and white-label product manufacturing, with the apparent business model of generating enterprise leads and contracting logistics, fulfillment, manufacturing, and related support services.

Scam/Impersonation Risk

No contradictions were observed: the available evidence identifies no phishing, impersonation, blacklist, malicious-content, or conflicting-identity indicators. The site's homepage presents a coherent corporate logistics proposition rather than a deceptive financial or credential-harvesting model, and its contact and demo mechanisms are oriented toward lead generation. Fourteen abuse reports associated with a shared Vercel CDN IP are not attributed specifically to Brizko; the address is whitelisted and the reports carry zero confidence, so this is treated as a discounted infrastructure-level signal rather than evidence against the site. Overall, the evidence is consistent with an established, apparently legitimate website, although the real-world operator identity remains independently unverified.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage is classified as a corporate B2B logistics and product-marketing page, with no detected phishing, impersonation, hidden-form, wallet, or malicious-script indicators.
- Domain registration records show creation on 2017-06-09 and an age of approximately 9.2 years; the registrar is GoDaddy.com, LLC.
- Archive records contain 12 snapshots spanning 2018–2025, with 8 years tracked and sparse coverage; no suspicious repurposing or semantic category change was identified.

Regulatory Verification Notes

Brizko's visible proposition is commercial logistics and manufacturing rather than a service presented as requiring a financial-services authorization. The available material does not independently establish the legal entity operating the platform, and no license or registration number is disclosed in the supplied site content; this is a verification and transparency matter, not a scam finding. The homepage uses client references, operational dashboards, and quantified claims such as delivery performance and logistics savings as marketing support. Those claims provide useful context but should not be treated as independently validated contractual or performance guarantees. A third-party broker dataset produced no name match, which is contextual only and not a licensing determination.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage offers demo, quotation, contact, catalog, and lead-generation functions rather than a sensitive account or payment form.
- The homepage displays client names and dashboard-style figures including 12,321 daily shipments, 96.4% on-time performance, and $284K in logistics savings; the page does not identify these figures as independently audited.
- The site's transport encryption uses a DV certificate issued by YR1, valid through 2026-11-06.

What to Verify Next

Before entering into a material commercial relationship, the prospective counterparty should independently confirm Brizko's legal entity, contracting entity, registered business details, and applicable logistics or manufacturing authorizations with the relevant Mexican and United States registries. Contract review should establish service levels, liability allocation, insurance, customs responsibilities, data handling, payment terms, refund or cancellation rights, and the entity receiving funds. Contact channels and client references should be validated through independently sourced business records or offline confirmation, and any payment should use an instrument offering appropriate commercial dispute protection.

EVIDENCE

- The supplied identity-verification status is unverified, so the website's commercial presentation does not by itself prove the operator's real-world identity.
- The site contains one lead-generation or demo-request form and no sensitive form was detected.
- The homepage's primary calls to action are requesting a demo, quotation, or contact, supporting a business-to-business engagement workflow.

Summary Verdict

The overall posture is high trust and low risk, with evidence consistent with an established, apparently legitimate corporate website and no observed scam or impersonation contradictions. The classification should not be read as independent proof of the operator's legal identity.

Infrastructure Integrity

The site is protected by Cloudflare's CDN/WAF, and the observed addresses were CDN edge servers with no origin candidates identified in this analysis. This reduces direct exposure of the origin infrastructure and is a mitigating control, not proof of business legitimacy.

EVIDENCE

- Hosting infrastructure is associated with AS16509, AMAZON-02 – Amazon.com, Inc., US.
- Observed CDN edge IPs are 198.202.211.1 (AS209242) and 76.76.21.21 (AS16509); 2 edge IPs and 0 likely origin IPs were identified.
- TLS certificate issuer: YR1; validation level: DV; valid to 2026-11-06T09:55:38+00:00.

Closing Assessment

Normal exploratory engagement is proportionate to the assessment, while credential submission, contracting, and payment should follow the independent identity, contractual, and payment-protection checks described above.

About this assessment

A trust score summarises the evidence TrustSniffer could collect about brizko.com at assessment time. It is a starting point for your own judgement, not a guarantee: a high score means the signals were consistent with a legitimately operated site, a low or critical score means several risk patterns were present.

TrustSniffer assesses a website from the evidence it can collect at a point in time: domain registration and age, hosting and certificate, the content the site served, and third-party reputation feeds. A score is a summary of that evidence, not a guarantee and not a legal finding. There is no human rating and no user review in it. A site can change after it is assessed.
