Full analysis

Overview

The website is an established Brazilian shopping-deals community that aggregates coupons and time-sensitive promotions from third-party retailers, directs shoppers to participating merchants, and appears to operate through affiliate referrals, advertising, or promotional partnerships rather than selling the advertised goods directly.

Scam/Impersonation Risk

No identity contradictions, phishing indicators, brand impersonation, or confirmed malicious reputation signals were observed. The ordinary account-login function does not redirect credentials to an untrusted destination, while observed interactive behavior showed no hidden forms, cloaking, clipboard interference, or suspicious scripts. The site's long provenance and clean external reputation support the conclusion that it is a legitimate operation rather than an imitation storefront.

- The homepage presents consistent Bugadão branding, active retail offers, coupon instructions, deal alerts, and links to recognized merchants including Amazon, Mercado Livre, and Netshoes.
- The homepage login form has no observed untrusted destination; no hidden forms or external password submission were detected during interaction testing.
- The domain record was created in 2019 and is approximately 6.84 years old, with FDB TECNOLOGIA DIGITAL LTDA identified as the registrant.
- Historical records contain 48 archive snapshots spanning 2016–2025, representing 10 years of tracked presence, with no substantiated semantic repurposing.

Regulatory Verification Notes

The site references privacy and terms materials, provides contact access, and discloses a legal entity and Brazilian company-registration identifier. Its activity is retail-promotion aggregation rather than a regulated financial or investment service, so the absence of a financial-services licence claim is consistent with the presented business model. No third-party broker profile was matched; this is neutral contextual information and does not challenge the site's identity or legitimacy.

- The homepage and referenced policy materials identify the service as a shopping-deals and coupon community rather than a merchant, broker, or investment platform.
- The site's identity disclosures include a legal entity and CNPJ, while its domain registration names FDB TECNOLOGIA DIGITAL LTDA.
- The homepage contains no cryptocurrency, investment-return, leverage, staking, or financial-advisory claims.
- The homepage's retail listings explain that coupons are applied in the relevant merchant's cart and identify offer conditions such as minimum purchase values, maximum discounts, and validity limits.

What to Verify Next

For procurement, advertising, or commercial-partnership onboarding, the disclosed CNPJ and contracting entity should be matched against current corporate records, and affiliate or promotional terms should be reviewed for responsibility over expired offers, pricing changes, and merchant fulfilment. Consumers should confirm the final merchant, price, coupon conditions, and checkout destination before completing each purchase.

- The homepage marks offers as time-sensitive or closed and displays merchant-specific eligibility and discount limitations.
- Product fulfilment and checkout occur through third-party retailers, making the destination merchant’s terms material to each transaction.
- The site provides policy references and contact access that can support routine commercial due diligence.

Summary Verdict

The website presents as a legitimate, established, and trustworthy shopping-promotion service. Its identity, operating model, historical presence, reputation, and observed behavior converge without material contradictions. Normal interaction, including account login and standard use, is appropriate.

Infrastructure Integrity

The site uses Cloudflare’s mainstream CDN and WAF infrastructure, with all observed addresses belonging to edge servers. This configuration reduces direct exposure of the origin system and provides a meaningful security mitigation, although protective infrastructure is not independently proof of legitimacy. Transport encryption is valid and domain-validated.

- The site is served from AS13335 (Cloudflare, Inc.); four observed addresses were Cloudflare edge endpoints.
- The TLS certificate was issued by WE1 with DV validation and is valid until 2026-08-31.
- The hosting infrastructure resolved normally through Cloudflare in the United States, with no origin-server candidate exposed in the observed address set.

Closing Assessment

Prospective users may engage with the service normally, applying standard online-shopping controls by reviewing merchant terms and the final checkout details before purchase.

About this assessment

A trust score summarises the evidence TrustSniffer could collect about bugadao.com.br at assessment time. It is a starting point for your own judgement, not a guarantee: a high score means the signals were consistent with a legitimately operated site, a low or critical score means several risk patterns were present.

TrustSniffer assesses a website from the evidence it can collect at a point in time: domain registration and age, hosting and certificate, the content the site served, and third-party reputation feeds. A score is a summary of that evidence, not a guarantee and not a legal finding. There is no human rating and no user review in it. A site can change after it is assessed.
