Full analysis

Security Alert

Fortinet, Sophos flagged this site in external intelligence checks, indicating elevated compromise/scam exposure that requires immediate caution.

The website presents El Espartano as a corporate sports-surface manufacturer and installer serving football, hockey, rugby, athletics, tennis, golf, padel, and related applications, with project showcases, ambassadors, certifications, contact facilities, and warranty support intended to attract commercial and institutional customers.

Scam/Impersonation Risk

No identity contradiction, brand-impersonation finding, or phishing form was recorded in the supplied page analysis. The homepage presents a coherent corporate/product profile, and the behavioral review found no login form, hidden sensitive form, wallet connection, credential-exfiltration form, or clipboard-hijacking behavior. However, this benign presentation is outweighed by confirmed external threat intelligence: 13 malicious detections were recorded, Fortinet and Sophos were among the tier-one flagging vendors, and the domain was identified on external blacklist sources. Google Safe Browsing did not mark the site malicious, but that isolated negative result does not reconcile the broader confirmed blacklist evidence. The site should therefore be treated as a critical sensitive-interaction risk even though its visible content does not itself display obvious fraud mechanics.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage has a corporate/product page type, contains 2,075 characters of rendered text, and records no login or sensitive form.
- External scanning recorded 13 malicious detections from 18 effective detections; Fortinet and Sophos were flagged, and external blacklist status was true.
- The domain is recorded as registered for 14.85 years.
- Archive telemetry records 112 snapshots spanning 2011–2026, covering 16 tracked years.

Regulatory Verification Notes

The operator's real-world identity is not independently verified, and the available disclosure state is unclear. No license, registration number, or regulated-authority claim is recorded in the supplied site content; for a sports-surface manufacturing and installation business this is primarily a disclosure and counterparty-verification gap rather than a standalone finding of fraud. Ownership opacity is present, so the company information shown on the site should not be treated as independently authenticated. The external broker-reputation dataset produced no match, but that is only contextual and does not offset the confirmed security detections.

EVIDENCE

- The supplied business-model analysis records no claimed license authority or license number and marks licensing as unverified.
- The site's hosting record identifies AS16814, NSS S.A., AR.
- The site uses a valid Domain Validation TLS certificate issued by YR1, valid through 2026-10-21.
- The page authority assessment is low and the homepage lacks a meta description and structured data.

What to Verify Next

Before any sensitive engagement, the prospective counterparty should independently confirm the company's legal name, registration, physical presence, and applicable commercial authorizations through official registries and independently sourced contact channels. Any quotation, purchase order, deposit, or warranty arrangement should be validated using contact details obtained outside the website and settled through payment methods offering contractual protection and dispute recourse. Security review should also be completed before permitting credentials, file transfers, or other authenticated access.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage and contact materials provide the stated commercial identity and communication channels but do not independently establish the operator behind them.
- The business-model record contains no verified licensing or registration identifier against which the counterparty can be matched.
- The behavioral review completed two successful runs and found no wallet-sensitive activity, hidden forms, or password forms sent to external destinations.

Summary Verdict

The overall posture is critical and unsuitable for sensitive interaction. The site has a credible-looking corporate presentation, but confirmed blacklist and malicious-detection evidence creates a decisive security concern, while independent identity verification remains incomplete.

Infrastructure Integrity

The site resolves directly to a single likely origin address rather than through a detected CDN or WAF layer. The confirmed hosting infrastructure is AS16814, NSS S.A., AR, with the service located in Argentina; this provides a concrete hosting attribution but no protective infrastructure-based mitigation.

Closing Assessment

Sensitive interactions, credential submission, and financial transactions should not proceed unless independent identity, security, and transaction protections have first been established through trusted external channels.

About this assessment

A trust score summarises the evidence TrustSniffer could collect about cespedelespartano.com.ar at assessment time. It is a starting point for your own judgement, not a guarantee: a high score means the signals were consistent with a legitimately operated site, a low or critical score means several risk patterns were present.

TrustSniffer assesses a website from the evidence it can collect at a point in time: domain registration and age, hosting and certificate, the content the site served, and third-party reputation feeds. A score is a summary of that evidence, not a guarantee and not a legal finding. There is no human rating and no user review in it. A site can change after it is assessed.
