Full analysis

Overview

ChairClub is a South African manufacturer and seller of configurable ergonomic office chairs, presenting products for offices, boardrooms, reception areas, meeting spaces, and homes alongside dealer recruitment, ergonomic guidance, and direct customer contact channels.

Scam/Impersonation Risk

The site presents a coherent office-furniture business model rather than a financial scheme, with product descriptions, ergonomic specifications, certifications, testimonials, company information, and no detected login, payment-credential, cryptocurrency, or brand-impersonation features. However, a confirmed blacklist signal materially outweighs those otherwise conventional content indicators and creates an elevated risk for sensitive interactions. No separate identity contradiction or direct impersonation finding was observed, but the apparent business identity remains only likely rather than independently verified.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage and product pages describe configurable office chairs, ergonomic mechanisms, local South African production, and office-seating use cases.
- The contact, dealer, and FAQ pages provide business-facing contact and dealer pathways; the site contains one newsletter-signup form and no detected login form.
- The domain was registered on 2021-09-21 and is 4.91 years old; archival records show 76 snapshots from 2021-11-27 through 2026-06-07, with 6 years tracked.
- External reputation assessment recorded one malicious and one suspicious detection, alongside a confirmed blacklist finding; a major safe-browsing check did not report malicious status.

Regulatory Verification Notes

The website appears to operate as a commercial furniture manufacturer and retailer, not as a regulated financial service. Its About, Contact, Privacy Policy, and product-related pages provide commercial and operational content, but the supplied evidence does not show a claimed license, registration number, or clearly stated legal-entity disclosure. This is a regulatory-transparency gap requiring independent confirmation, not by itself evidence of a scam. The site's identity is assessed as likely but not verified, and no third-party broker match was identified.

EVIDENCE

- The About and company-information content describes ChairClub's South African manufacturing and ergonomic-seating activities.
- The Contact, Find a Dealer, and Become a ChairClub Dealer pages expose customer and commercial-partner engagement routes.
- The site's transport encryption uses a DV certificate issued by YR2, valid until 2026-10-22.
- Page content includes certifications and testimonials, but the supplied legal and identity-page evidence does not contain a license authority or license number.

What to Verify Next

Before any sensitive interaction, an institution should independently confirm the operating company's legal name and South African registration details through authoritative corporate records, and confirm that the published contact and dealer channels belong to that entity through an offline or independently sourced route. Any purchase should use payment protection with clear delivery, warranty, refund, and dispute terms; credentials should not be reused on this site. The relevant licensing or registration position should also be confirmed with the appropriate South African authority if the proposed relationship involves activities beyond ordinary furniture sales.

EVIDENCE

- The site links to Facebook, LinkedIn, and Instagram profiles, which provide potential independent channels for confirming the business relationship.
- The homepage states that the chairs are made in South Africa and sold for office, corporate, and home use, providing claims that can be checked against external business records.
- The site offers direct-to-business and direct-to-consumer sales, dealer signups, and an ergonomic-guide email capture, creating several points at which merchant identity and fulfilment terms should be validated.

Summary Verdict

The overall posture is low trust with elevated sensitive-interaction risk. The site's substantive commercial presentation is internally consistent, but the confirmed external reputation contradiction prevents the available evidence from supporting normal confidence in login, credential, or financial activity.

Infrastructure Integrity

The site resolves directly to a single likely origin in South Africa rather than through a detected CDN or WAF layer. It is hosted by Xneelo (Pty) Ltd on AS37153, with the direct origin exposure providing less intermediary protection than a mainstream edge-security deployment; valid transport encryption mitigates interception risk but does not establish site legitimacy.

EVIDENCE

- Hosting infrastructure: AS37153, Xneelo (Pty) Ltd, South Africa; one unique IP was identified and no CDN was detected.
- TLS certificate: issuer YR2, validation level DV, valid to 2026-10-22T08:51:50+00:00.
- The resolved hosting IP was 129.232.239.194, classified as a likely origin address.

Closing Assessment

The proportionate course is to restrict activity to non-sensitive inspection until the operator, merchant terms, and external reputation issue have been independently resolved; sensitive account, credential, and financial actions should not proceed on the basis of the website presentation alone.

About this assessment

A trust score summarises the evidence TrustSniffer could collect about chairclubworld.com at assessment time. It is a starting point for your own judgement, not a guarantee: a high score means the signals were consistent with a legitimately operated site, a low or critical score means several risk patterns were present.

TrustSniffer assesses a website from the evidence it can collect at a point in time: domain registration and age, hosting and certificate, the content the site served, and third-party reputation feeds. A score is a summary of that evidence, not a guarantee and not a legal finding. There is no human rating and no user review in it. A site can change after it is assessed.
