Full analysis

Overview

The website is the account-access portal for CMC Markets Stockbroking, presenting visitors with a username-and-password login to an Australian stockbroking and trading service whose apparent revenue model is based on brokerage charges, trading-related spreads, and associated fees.

Scam/Impersonation Risk

No identity contradictions, brand impersonation, phishing behavior, or adverse threat-reputation signals were observed. The sensitive form is consistent with the page's stated account-access function: its destination was not identified as untrusted, and testing found no hidden forms, external password submission, cloaking, suspicious scripts, clipboard interference, or cryptocurrency-wallet activity. The long-established domain and sustained archival record further support continuity rather than opportunistic impersonation or repurposing.

- The homepage displays one visible login form, while behavioral testing found zero external password forms and no hidden forms.
- External reputation checks recorded zero malicious and zero suspicious detections, no malicious safe-browsing finding, no external blacklist finding, and zero reported infrastructure abuse.
- The domain was registered in 2008 and is approximately 17.81 years old.
- The web archive contains 210 snapshots from 10 October 2008 through 6 April 2026, spanning 19 tracked years, with no suspicious repurposing or semantic drift established.

Regulatory Verification Notes

The homepage identifies the service provider as CMC Markets Stockbroking Limited and publishes an Australian Business Number, an Australian Financial Services licence number, and claimed participation in three Australian trading venues. It also directs users to terms, privacy, risk, dispute-handling, fee, financial-services-guide, and target-market documentation. These are substantive regulated-service disclosures, although the supplied evidence does not include an independent registry confirmation of the licence or exchange-participant claims. The organization-validated certificate separately binds the encrypted service to a named CMC corporate entity, providing additional identity assurance.

- The homepage names CMC Markets Stockbroking Limited, ABN 69 081 002 851, and Australian Financial Services Licence No. 246381.
- The homepage states participation in the ASX Group, Sydney Stock Exchange, and Cboe, and points to the provider's legal and risk documents.

- The site's TLS certificate is organization-validated, issued by DigiCert Global G3 TLS ECC SHA384 2020 CA1 to CMC MARKETS UK PLC, and valid until 24 December 2026.
- Domain-registration records name CMC MARKETS ASIA PACIFIC PTY LTD as owner and Corporation Service Company (Aust) Pty Ltd as registrar.

What to Verify Next

Institutional onboarding should independently confirm the published corporate and financial-services identifiers in the relevant Australian registries, validate the claimed exchange memberships, and reconcile the contracting entity with the entity named in the applicable client agreement. Operational teams should also confirm official recovery and service channels through independently sourced corporate contact details before relying on them for account administration.

- The homepage provides “Forgot your username?” and “Forgot your password?” recovery functions, making channel validation relevant to account-control procedures.
- The homepage states that fees and charges are addressed in a Financial Services Guide, supporting review of that document before commercial engagement.
- The page advises prospective clients to consider applicable terms, risk materials, and any relevant Target Market Determination before acquiring financial products.

Summary Verdict

The website is a legitimate, established, and trustworthy account portal. Its consistent corporate identity, durable provenance, clean external reputation, appropriate sensitive-form behavior, and substantive legal presentation converge on a high-confidence trust posture with no observed contradictory risk signals.

Infrastructure Integrity

The service is delivered through Akamai’s mainstream CDN/WAF infrastructure. Only an Akamai edge address was observed, so the underlying origin was not exposed during the assessment; this reduces direct-origin exposure but is a protective control rather than independent proof of legitimacy.

- The site is served from AS16625, operated by Akamai Technologies, Inc., with the observed edge endpoint located in the Netherlands.
- The observed address, 2.23.245.45, was classified as an Akamai CDN edge, with no origin-server candidate identified.

Closing Assessment

Normal interaction, including account login and standard account use, is appropriate, subject to ordinary institutional onboarding and transaction-control procedures.

About this assessment

A trust score summarises the evidence TrustSniffer could collect about cmcmarketstockbroking.com.au at assessment time. It is a starting point for your own judgement, not a guarantee: a high score means the signals were consistent with a legitimately operated site, a low or critical score means several risk patterns were present.

TrustSniffer assesses a website from the evidence it can collect at a point in time: domain registration and age, hosting and certificate, the content the site served, and third-party reputation feeds. A score is a summary of that evidence, not a guarantee and not a legal finding. There is no human rating and no user review in it. A site can change after it is assessed.
