Full analysis

Overview

Colinart.com is a promotional portfolio for sculptor Colin Campbell, presenting sculpture concepts, artistic projects, proposed sculpture gardens, reproductions, and subscription-based updates; its apparent purpose is to promote the artist's work, exhibitions, and related commercial opportunities.

Scam/Impersonation Risk

No page-level evidence of brand impersonation, phishing forms, hidden sensitive forms, wallet-connect activity, or a payment flow was identified. However, the domain has a confirmed blacklist status across two external reputation sources, including two malicious detections and two suspicious detections; this is a material contradiction that outweighs the otherwise benign presentation of the homepage. The site also uses unusually absolute promotional claims, including "Most Innovative Artist In History," "the only sculptor in the world" to have defined sculpture in a particular way, and an "8 figure work of art" supposedly supported by historical precedents. These claims are not themselves proof of fraud, but they increase the need for independent validation before any sensitive engagement. The published material includes the address info@example.com, a contact-channel integrity anomaly caused by a deliverability-breaking domain suffix or possible typosquat. Evidence:

- Homepage content presents the artist's superlative claims, launch precedents, unlimited reproductions, and proposed future sculpture gardens.
- External reputation assessment recorded `vt_malicious: 2`, `vt_suspicious: 2`, and `external_blacklist: true`.
- Domain registration telemetry records creation in 2003 and an age of approximately 23.24 years.
- Web-archive telemetry records 285 snapshots spanning 2002–2026, with 25 years tracked.

Regulatory Verification Notes

The available site content presents an individual artist portfolio rather than a regulated financial or investment service, and no payment mechanism, licensing claim, or regulatory representation is visible in the supplied material. The public-facing content does not independently verify the real-world operator behind the site, so the artist attribution should be treated as apparent rather than proven. A valid transport certificate and identifiable hosting infrastructure support technical operation of the site, but they do not resolve the external reputation contradiction or establish legal identity.

EVIDENCE

- The site's homepage is categorized as an artist portfolio/promotional page and contains no visible license number, regulatory claim, or transaction flow.
- Hosting telemetry identifies AS63068, CROCWEB - CrocWeb, CA.
- The site's TLS certificate is Domain Validated, issued by YE2, and valid until 2026-09-19T01:26:25+00:00.

What to Verify Next

Before any purchase, commission, subscription, or exchange of personal information, independently confirm that Colin Campbell, the advertised projects, and any referenced exhibitions or sculpture gardens can be corroborated through reputable external records. Confirm the official contact channels through an independent route, obtain written terms covering delivery, refunds, ownership, and reproduction rights, and use payment methods providing dispute and consumer-protection mechanisms. Any future request for account credentials, identity documents, or financial transfers should be treated as requiring separate validation rather than as a normal consequence of viewing the portfolio.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage contains one subscription form but no visible ecommerce or payment flow.
- The supplied page analysis identified no external links or social-domain references that independently corroborate the artist or projects.
- The homepage identifies the presentation as "Colin Campbell Sculpture" and refers to proposed gardens and reproductions without accompanying independent verification.

Summary Verdict

The overall posture is low trust with elevated sensitive-interaction risk. Although the site presents a coherent artistic portfolio and shows a long-running technical presence, confirmed external reputation contradictions prevent the available evidence from supporting normal trust in sensitive, credential-bearing, or financial interactions.

Infrastructure Integrity

CDN/WAF protection is present, with observed edge infrastructure on AS16509 and two potential origin candidates. This architecture can mitigate some direct exposure of the hosting environment, but protective infrastructure is only a technical mitigating factor and does not establish legitimacy.

Closing Assessment

Restrict engagement to read-only browsing unless the operator, transaction terms, and contact channels have been independently corroborated; credentials and financial information should not be submitted on the basis of the site's presentation alone.

What the analysis found

2 findings contributed to this verdict, raised by registration and ownership, analysis engine.

- 01 Governance Risk

 - Registration details are held behind a privacy service, so no operator is named publicly. This is common and legal, and it also means there is nobody to check.
Registration and ownership rule:KF_WHOIS_PRIVATE
- 02 Sensitive Interaction Risk

 - The analysis matched a pattern TrustSniffer treats as a direct threat to a visitor.

About this assessment

A trust score summarises the evidence TrustSniffer could collect about colinart.com at assessment time. It is a starting point for your own judgement, not a guarantee: a high score means the signals were consistent with a legitimately operated site, a low or critical score means several risk patterns were present.

TrustSniffer assesses a website from the evidence it can collect at a point in time: domain registration and age, hosting and certificate, the content the site served, and third-party reputation feeds. A score is a summary of that evidence, not a guarantee and not a legal finding. There is no human rating and no user review in it. A site can change after it is assessed.
