Full analysis

Overview

Diario Sur is an established regional news portal serving Málaga and surrounding areas, presenting editorial reporting on local news, sports, culture, and politics. Its apparent business model combines advertising, personalized-ad consent, paid subscriptions, and promotional or affiliate listings for events and offers.

Scam/Impersonation Risk

No phishing, impersonation, blacklist, or conflicting-identity indicators were observed. The site presents a substantial, coherent editorial operation rather than a deceptive transactional interface: no sensitive login form, wallet connection, hidden form, or malicious browser behavior was identified. External reputation checks were clean; the six abuse reports associated with the observed address were attributed to shared Fastly CDN infrastructure, were confidence-scored at zero, and were discounted as provider-level reports rather than evidence against the website. A long-established registration and continuous historical presence further support provenance consistent with an established site.

EVIDENCE

- Domain registration continuity: registered 1998, approximately 28.16 years old, based on the domain's historical registration record.
- Web archive: 5,000 snapshots spanning 1998–2019, covering 22 tracked years.
- Homepage capture: no login form, sensitive form, wallet activity, phishing indicator, or brand-impersonation signal detected.
- External reputation assessment: 0 malicious detections, 0 suspicious detections, and no blacklist or phishing hit recorded; 6 reports applied to shared CDN infrastructure and were discounted.

Regulatory Verification Notes

The homepage identifies the publication as “SUR, diario de Málaga” and directs visitors to an Aviso Legal for site ownership and a Política de Cookies for data-processing information. The available evidence does not independently verify the real-world operator, although the site's apparent identity is consistent with its established editorial presentation and associated social presence. No licence claim or licence number is presented; for a regional news publisher, that is a regulatory-transparency item to clarify rather than evidence of a scam. Personalized advertising, subscriptions, and promotional listings also make it appropriate to distinguish the publisher's editorial role from any separate merchant or event provider involved in an offer.

EVIDENCE

- Homepage: identifies the publication as “SUR, diario de Málaga” and links to an Aviso Legal and Política de Cookies.
- Homepage: states that content is funded by advertising and premium subscriptions and explains the available consent choices.
- Hosting telemetry: served from AS54113, FASTLY - Fastly, Inc., US.
- Transport security: TLS certificate issued by Certainly Intermediate R1, DV validation, valid to 2026-09-05T03:36:53+00:00.

What to Verify Next

Before a paid subscription or offer-related payment, the relevant Aviso Legal and checkout terms should be reviewed to confirm the contracting entity, cancellation rights, refund conditions, and payment-protection arrangements. Any licence or registration requirement applicable to a specific commercial promotion should be checked with the relevant official registry or event provider, rather than inferred from the publisher’s editorial status. Independent contact details and official social channels should also be reconciled with the site before resolving account or payment issues.

EVIDENCE

- Aviso Legal: use the site’s ownership notice to confirm the contracting legal entity.
- Subscription pages: confirm billing, renewal, cancellation, and refund terms before payment.
- Promotional or event listings: verify the named merchant or provider independently where a third party supplies the goods or service.
- Official social profiles: reconcile the site’s published channels through an independent route before handling account-support requests.

Summary Verdict

Available evidence supports a high-trust, low-risk posture for an apparently legitimate and established website. No contradictions were observed, and the site’s identity and operating model are substantially consistent across its content, historical continuity, technical security, and external reputation signals; however, the real-world operator remains likely rather than independently verified.

Infrastructure Integrity

The website is protected by Fastly’s CDN/WAF infrastructure, with observed addresses belonging to CDN edge servers rather than a directly exposed origin. This provides a meaningful mitigation against direct origin exposure and common availability or abuse risks, but it is infrastructure protection rather than proof of legitimacy.

EVIDENCE

- Infrastructure resolution: 4 CDN edge IP addresses observed; likely origin IP count 0.
- Hosting: AS54113, FASTLY - Fastly, Inc., US; registry ARIN; country US.
- TLS: Certainly Intermediate R1, DV certificate, valid through 2026-09-05T03:36:53+00:00.

Closing Assessment

Ordinary browsing is proportionate to the assessed posture. Credential or payment interactions should proceed after the ordinary independent checks of merchant identity, subscription or return terms, and payment protection described above.

About this assessment

A trust score summarises the evidence TrustSniffer could collect about diariosur.es at assessment time. It is a starting point for your own judgement, not a guarantee: a high score means the signals were consistent with a legitimately operated site, a low or critical score means several risk patterns were present.

TrustSniffer assesses a website from the evidence it can collect at a point in time: domain registration and age, hosting and certificate, the content the site served, and third-party reputation feeds. A score is a summary of that evidence, not a guarantee and not a legal finding. There is no human rating and no user review in it. A site can change after it is assessed.
