Full analysis

Overview

Double the Donation is an established business-to-business software platform that helps nonprofits and educational institutions identify corporate matching-gift eligibility, automate donor communications and employer-request workflows, and manage workplace-giving programs through software integrations and a maintained corporate-giving database.

Scam/Impersonation Risk

No identity contradictions, phishing behavior, brand impersonation, or other scam indicators were observed. The homepage presents a coherent commercial model, directing prospective institutional customers toward demonstrations and pricing rather than deceptive payment or credential-capture flows. Its performance claims—including donor request-submission rates of 60–90%, email open rates of 53%, year-over-year matching-gift revenue growth of 50%, and staff time savings of 80%—are marketing representations that should be evaluated in the context of customer-specific results, but they do not constitute evidence of impersonation or fraud.

- The homepage consistently describes matching gifts, volunteer grants, payroll giving, donation-platform integrations, and corporate-giving data services for nonprofit organizations.
- Interactive testing detected no hidden forms, external password forms, cloaking, clipboard interference, cryptocurrency-wallet activity, or suspicious inline scripts.
- External reputation checks recorded 0 malicious and 0 suspicious detections, no phishing finding, no reported abuse, and a global traffic rank of 41,801.
- The domain was registered on 3 September 2011 and is 14.92 years old; its registrar is Namecheap, Inc., and the current registration runs to 3 September 2028.

Regulatory Verification Notes

The observed service is conventional fundraising software rather than a financial brokerage, investment platform, or regulated virtual-asset service, so the absence of a financial-services licence claim is consistent with its stated business model. The homepage provides links to a trust center and legal policies, supporting an enterprise-oriented governance posture. Registration privacy is an ordinary administrative arrangement in this context and does not conflict with the site's presented identity.

- The homepage identifies the intended customers as nonprofits and educational institutions and describes a software-and-data subscription model centered on workplace giving.

- The homepage exposes company, support, trust-center, and legal-policy navigation alongside customer resources and case-study material.
- The homepage contains no investment, brokerage, token, deposit-taking, or financial-return proposition.
- No corresponding broker profile was identified in the supplied third-party broker intelligence, which is consistent with the site not presenting itself as a brokerage.

What to Verify Next

Normal enterprise procurement should confirm that quoted functionality, service levels, data-handling terms, and integration requirements meet the institution’s needs. Prospective customers should obtain current pricing and contractual documentation through the published commercial process, review the applicable privacy and security materials, and validate claimed performance outcomes against relevant customer references.

- The homepage directs prospective customers to request pricing or schedule a product demonstration rather than publishing standardized contract terms.
- The service analyzes matching-gift eligibility and automates donor messaging and employer-request submission, making data flows and processor responsibilities relevant to procurement review.
- The advertised offering includes integrations and a maintained employer-giving database, creating appropriate due-diligence questions around compatibility, update practices, and support commitments.

Summary Verdict

The website is a legitimate, established, and trustworthy SaaS presence with a consistent institutional identity, mature business proposition, meaningful web authority, and clean technical and reputational findings. The evidence supports normal interaction, including account login and standard platform use, with high confidence.

Infrastructure Integrity

The site is hosted on Microsoft Corporation infrastructure and protected by a CDN/WAF configuration. The observed address was an edge endpoint rather than an exposed origin server; this reduces direct infrastructure exposure but is treated as a security control, not independent proof of legitimacy.

- The hosting infrastructure serves the site from AS8075 (Microsoft Corporation) in the United States.
- The site’s transport encryption uses a domain-validated TLS certificate issued by YE2, valid until 26 September 2026.
- The observed edge address was 20.172.164.4; no origin-server candidate was exposed during the assessment.

Closing Assessment

Prospective users and institutional customers may engage with the website normally, applying routine procurement and account-security controls appropriate to an established SaaS provider.

About this assessment

A trust score summarises the evidence TrustSniffer could collect about doublethedonation.com at assessment time. It is a starting point for your own judgement, not a guarantee: a high score means the signals were consistent with a legitimately operated site, a low or critical score means several risk patterns were present.

TrustSniffer assesses a website from the evidence it can collect at a point in time: domain registration and age, hosting and certificate, the content the site served, and third-party reputation feeds. A score is a summary of that evidence, not a guarantee and not a legal finding. There is no human rating and no user review in it. A site can change after it is assessed.
