Full analysis

Overview

This website is a Chinese-language adult-video index and aggregation site that presents extensive explicit-media listings and links to third-party material, apparently relying on advertising or referrals rather than a clearly identified subscription, licensing, or transactional business model.

Scam/Impersonation Risk

No confirmed blacklist, phishing, impersonation, or conflicting legal-identity signal was observed. The principal concern is instead the site's content and provenance: the homepage aggregates scraped adult-media listings, includes a disclaimer that it does not host files, and contains material and wording suggesting possible underage-related sexual content. That disclaimer does not resolve whether the indexed material is lawfully sourced, properly age-restricted, or responsibly moderated. The site also lacks a clear product or accountable operating model, which supports a cautious low-trust assessment without establishing that the site is an impersonation operation.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage is an adult-video index containing extensive explicit listings, categories, and third-party media references.
- The homepage includes text suggesting potentially underage-related sexual content and browser-level indicators associated with explicit sexual material and possible child-exploitation content.
- The current registration record shows registration on 2026-01-10, with an age of approximately 0.61 years.
- Historical records show activity from 2006-02-05 through 2026-02-03, covering 21 years of tracked history; this historical record does not by itself establish the current operator's identity.

Regulatory Verification Notes

The website does not provide a clear, verifiable operator identity, licensing position, content-rights statement, or accountable contact address on the reviewed page. The available registration record names Spaceship, Inc. as registrar, but that fact does not independently connect the website to a real-world legal entity. The absence of a disclosed license is a transparency and verification issue rather than evidence of a scam by itself. External reputation checks did not identify a confirmed blacklist or broker-dataset match, but coverage was partial and those clean signals do not compensate for the site's limited governance disclosures or the legal ambiguity surrounding its indexed content.

EVIDENCE

- The registration record identifies Spaceship, Inc. as the registrar; no independently verified operating entity is established by the supplied record.
- The site's transport encryption uses a DV certificate issued by WE1, valid through 2026-10-05.
- The homepage provides no clear licensing, rights-management, or verifiable business-contact disclosure.
- The page presents a copyright disclaimer while offering extensive third-party media indexing, creating a material gap between the site's disclaimer and the evidence needed to establish lawful content provenance.

What to Verify Next

Before any sensitive interaction, an independent source should be used to identify the operator and confirm that the site has a lawful basis for indexing and distributing the displayed material. Content-moderation and age-assurance practices should be confirmed through accountable documentation, and any external links should be inspected for destination changes or unsolicited downloads. Credentials, payment information, and other sensitive data should not be submitted unless the operator and the purpose of the interaction have been independently established.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage has no login form or other sensitive data-collection form, so there is no demonstrated account function requiring credentials.
- The reviewed page contains no clear transactional mechanism, product terms, or responsible operator contact route.
- Browser testing recorded two non-whitelisted external XMLHttpRequests and suspicious network behavior, warranting review of outbound destinations before interaction.
- The homepage's copyright disclaimer should be independently tested against the actual destination and ownership of the indexed media.

Summary Verdict

The site presents a low-trust posture with sensitive-interaction risk. Its technical availability and absence of confirmed contradiction signals are insufficient to overcome the combination of unverified identity, weak accountability, ambiguous content provenance, and potentially illicit material. Legitimacy therefore remains unverified rather than established.

Infrastructure Integrity

Cloudflare CDN/WAF protection provides a mitigating layer by placing the site behind edge infrastructure and limiting direct exposure of the hosting environment, but this is an infrastructure control rather than proof of legitimate ownership or content governance.

EVIDENCE

- The site is served through AS13335, CLOUDFLARENET — Cloudflare, Inc., US.
- Four observed addresses were Cloudflare edge IPs, with no likely origin candidate identified: 104.21.13.225, 172.67.133.81, 2606:4700:3031::6815:de1, and 2606:4700:3035::ac43:8551.

Closing Assessment

The proportionate course is read-only observation while the operator, content rights, moderation controls, and outbound destinations are independently verified; sensitive credentials, payment details, and downloads should remain outside the interaction until those checks are complete.

About this assessment

A trust score summarises the evidence TrustSniffer could collect about dsc1996.org at assessment time. It is a starting point for your own judgement, not a guarantee: a high score means the signals were consistent with a legitimately operated site, a low or critical score means several risk patterns were present.

TrustSniffer assesses a website from the evidence it can collect at a point in time: domain registration and age, hosting and certificate, the content the site served, and third-party reputation feeds. A score is a summary of that evidence, not a guarantee and not a legal finding. There is no human rating and no user review in it. A site can change after it is assessed.
