Full analysis

Overview

ECOM is an Argentine corporate technology and connectivity organization serving Chaco Province, public agencies, municipalities, private companies, and communities through fiber-optic infrastructure, digital government, cybersecurity, artificial intelligence, connectivity, and digital transformation services. Its homepage presents a public-sector and business-services model supported by claims of 3,000 km of fiber optics, 292 active systems, more than 400 workers, and 6,113 connected users.

Scam/Impersonation Risk

No contradictions, phishing indicators, impersonation signals, or confirmed blacklist findings were observed. The site's content is consistent with an established corporate and public-sector technology provider: it identifies ECOM, describes concrete connectivity and transformation services, and presents operational information rather than deceptive financial, cryptocurrency, or credential-harvesting features. Normal interaction with the site is appropriate.

- The homepage identifies ECOM and describes connectivity, public-sector modernization, private-sector services, and digital transformation.
- External reputation checks recorded zero malicious findings, zero suspicious findings, zero abuse reports, and no blacklist hit.
- The domain was registered in 2013 and is approximately 12.82 years old; archival coverage records 44 snapshots across 13 tracked years from 2014 through 2026.

Regulatory Verification Notes

The supplied content supports a legitimate corporate and public-service identity, but it does not present a financial-services license or regulatory registration claim. That is a limited disclosure point relevant only if a prospective engagement involves a regulated service; it does not indicate impersonation or fraud. The site's stated corporate owner and service model are consistent with its public-sector technology positioning.

- WHOIS identifies the registrant as ECOM CHACO S A and the registrar as nicar.
- The hosting record identifies AS52373 - ECOM CHACO S.A., AR, registered through LACNIC.
- The site's transport encryption uses a DV certificate issued by Sectigo Public Server Authentication CA DV R36, valid through 2026-10-26.

What to Verify Next

For any procurement or regulated engagement, the prospective counterparty should confirm ECOM's corporate authority and any service-specific licensing requirements through the relevant Argentine or provincial registry, using independently obtained contact details. Contracting teams should also match invoices, authorized signatories, and service scope to the organization identified on the site's corporate and public-sector pages.

- The homepage provides the stated business scope and identifies public-sector and private-sector service categories.
- The site includes dedicated areas for the company, suppliers, public-sector services, private-sector services, and digital government functions.
- No financial licensing claim or license number is presented in the supplied site content.

Summary Verdict

The website presents as a legitimate, established, and trustworthy corporate technology platform with a coherent business purpose and no observed scam or impersonation contradictions. Its overall posture supports ordinary browsing, account login where offered, and standard business interaction.

Infrastructure Integrity

The site is protected by Cloudflare CDN/WAF infrastructure, which mitigates direct exposure and provides a meaningful protective control. Observed edge infrastructure is distinct from the identified ECOM hosting environment, and the protective layer should be treated as risk reduction rather than independent proof of legitimacy.

Closing Assessment

Normal interaction, including account login and standard account actions, is appropriate; higher-value commercial engagements should follow ordinary procurement and registry checks.

About this assessment

A trust score summarises the evidence TrustSniffer could collect about ecom.com.ar at assessment time. It is a starting point for your own judgement, not a guarantee: a high score means the signals were consistent with a legitimately operated site, a low or critical score means several risk patterns were present.

TrustSniffer assesses a website from the evidence it can collect at a point in time: domain registration and age, hosting and certificate, the content the site served, and third-party reputation feeds. A score is a summary of that evidence, not a guarantee and not a legal finding. There is no human rating and no user review in it. A site can change after it is assessed.
