Full analysis

Security Alert

Fortinet, Sophos flagged this site in external intelligence checks, indicating elevated compromise/scam exposure that requires immediate caution.

El Jardín is a Spanish-language informational service website presenting emotional-wellbeing accompaniment, including support related to anxiety and depression, with visitor contact channels, social links, and a newsletter intended to support direct enquiries or appointments rather than online financial transactions.

Scam/Impersonation Risk

The visible homepage presents a low-complexity informational service and does not show login functionality, payment prompts, credential collection, wallet interaction, or other direct abuse mechanics. However, this benign presentation is outweighed by confirmed external threat detections: the domain is blacklisted, with multiple malicious classifications recorded across evaluated reputation sources. No distinct identity contradiction or brand impersonation was observed in the supplied page content, but the blacklist evidence is a material contradiction that warrants a security-forward posture. The current registration record also conflicts with the site's older archived presence, creating a provenance issue that should not be resolved solely from the website's current presentation.

EVIDENCE

- Current registration telemetry records creation in 2026, with an age of approximately 0.17 years.
- Historical records contain 79 archive snapshots spanning 2004–2020, covering 17 tracked years.
- External reputation assessment recorded 13 malicious detections and a confirmed blacklist.

Regulatory Verification Notes

The site's service description does not establish a verified legal operator, professional authorization, or licensing basis. No license claim, license number, or licensing authority is presented in the supplied content, so regulatory status remains an unresolved verification matter rather than proof of wrongdoing. The page's limited metadata and absence of structured organization information further restrict independent validation of the service provider. The available third-party broker context produced no match, but that is reputational context only and does not constitute a licensing or regulatory determination.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage and service-navigation content describe emotional-wellbeing accompaniment without identifying a licensing authority or registration number.
- The supplied page content contains no verified professional, corporate, or regulated-entity disclosure.
- The site's transport encryption uses a DV certificate issued by YE1, valid to 2026-11-16.

What to Verify Next

Before any appointment, sensitive disclosure, or exchange of personal information, the prospective user should independently confirm the operator's legal identity and any applicable practitioner or service authorization through the relevant official registry. Contact channels and associated social profiles should be validated through an independent route rather than relying solely on links presented by the site. Any future request for payment, identity documents, account credentials, or unusually sensitive health information should be assessed separately and confirmed with the relevant organization before submission.

EVIDENCE

- The site provides About and Contact navigation that can be checked for a named operator, address, terms, privacy notice, and complaint process.
- The site presents multiple social-network links that can be independently checked for consistent ownership and activity.
- The newsletter form was unavailable at capture, so any later data-collection form should be reviewed for its destination, purpose, and privacy disclosures.

Summary Verdict

The overall posture is critical trust risk, driven primarily by confirmed external malicious and blacklist indicators rather than by the apparent mental-health service model or visible page mechanics. The website's identity may be real, but it is not independently verified sufficiently to offset the external security contradiction; sensitive interaction should therefore be treated as high risk.

Infrastructure Integrity

The site is served through AS-HOSTINGER—Hostinger International Limited, CY, on AS47583, with CDN/WAF protection also observed. Edge infrastructure was observed on AS8560, and the protective layer is a mitigating technical control only; it does not establish the legitimacy of the operator or override the external reputation findings.

EVIDENCE

- Hosting infrastructure: AS47583, AS-HOSTINGER—Hostinger International Limited, CY.
- Observed CDN edge servers: 2001:8d8:100f:f000::200 and 217.160.0.2 on AS8560.
- Infrastructure resolution identified 4 unique IPs, including 2 edge IPs and 2 potential origin candidates.

Closing Assessment

The proportionate course is to keep interaction read-only until the operator, authorization status, and contact channels have been independently confirmed, and to avoid submitting credentials, sensitive personal information, or financial data.

About this assessment

A trust score summarises the evidence TrustSniffer could collect about eljardin.info at assessment time. It is a starting point for your own judgement, not a guarantee: a high score means the signals were consistent with a legitimately operated site, a low or critical score means several risk patterns were present.

TrustSniffer assesses a website from the evidence it can collect at a point in time: domain registration and age, hosting and certificate, the content the site served, and third-party reputation feeds. A score is a summary of that evidence, not a guarantee and not a legal finding. There is no human rating and no user review in it. A site can change after it is assessed.
