Full analysis

Overview

The website is an established Brazilian ecommerce storefront for Eloeth, presenting lingerie, swimwear, women's apparel, accessories, and home goods with prices in Brazilian reais, PIX discounts, card instalments, promotions, customer reviews, and conventional fulfilment and after-sales information.

Scam/Impersonation Risk

No identity contradictions, phishing indicators, brand impersonation, or malicious reputation findings were observed. The homepage presents a coherent retail value flow: customers select tangible goods, receive stated prices and payment options, and can consult delivery, exchange, return, and privacy information. Interactive elements are consistent with ordinary ecommerce acquisition and support functions; testing found no hidden forms, credential forwarding, cloaking, clipboard interference, or cryptocurrency-wallet activity.

- The homepage identifies Eloeth as a factory-store retailer operating since 1991 and displays product listings, BRL prices, PIX discounts, card instalments, promotions, and customer reviews.
- The homepage's two detected forms support discount-coupon registration and WhatsApp contact; neither uses an untrusted destination, and no login or hidden form was detected.
- External reputation checks recorded 0 malicious and 0 suspicious detections, no phishing finding, no reported abuse, and no matched threat signatures.
- The domain was registered in 2002 (~23.9 years old); 142 archive snapshots span 2005–2026, covering 22 tracked years without evidence of suspicious repurposing or semantic drift.

Regulatory Verification Notes

The site describes an identifiable Brazilian retail operation through a published CNPJ, physical address, telephone and email channels, and customer-service policies. Its ordinary sale of fashion and household merchandise does not, on the supplied evidence, present itself as a regulated financial or brokerage service; accordingly, the absence of a financial licence claim is not anomalous. The disclosed commercial identity, long operating narrative, clean reputation, and durable domain provenance converge in support of legitimacy.

- The homepage publishes a CNPJ, physical address, telephone and email contact details for the operating business.
- Homepage links provide delivery, privacy, exchange, and return policies relevant to consumer transactions.
- The site is served from AS16509 (Amazon.com, Inc.); its DV TLS certificate was issued by Amazon RSA 2048 M04 and is valid until 2027-02-27.

- The homepage describes payment by PIX and instalment card arrangements for direct retail purchases, with no cryptocurrency, investment, trading, or brokerage offering detected.

What to Verify Next

For higher-value orders or institutional onboarding, the published CNPJ and trading details can be matched against the relevant Brazilian corporate record, while the named payment recipient should correspond to the disclosed merchant. Purchasers should also review the applicable delivery, exchange, return, and privacy terms before payment and confirm official contact channels through an independent route when handling exceptional requests.

- The homepage provides the corporate identifier and address needed for an independent registry comparison.
- The storefront exposes customer-service and privacy-policy links that can be reviewed before checkout.
- The published catalogue provides item-level pricing and payment terms against which the final checkout amount can be reconciled.

Summary Verdict

The website is legitimate, established, and trustworthy, with mutually reinforcing commercial identity, historical, reputational, and behavioral evidence. No contradicting risk signals were found. Normal interaction, including account login, standard shopping, and routine transactions, is appropriate.

Infrastructure Integrity

The observed hosting and encrypted-transport configuration reflects mainstream, professionally managed infrastructure. It reduces routine transport and availability risk, although infrastructure protection is properly treated as a supporting control rather than independent proof of business legitimacy.

Closing Assessment

Prospective customers may use the storefront normally, applying standard ecommerce safeguards such as reviewing order details and retaining purchase records for significant transactions.

About this assessment

A trust score summarises the evidence TrustSniffer could collect about eloeth.com.br at assessment time. It is a starting point for your own judgement, not a guarantee: a high score means the signals were consistent with a legitimately operated site, a low or critical score means several risk patterns were present.

TrustSniffer assesses a website from the evidence it can collect at a point in time: domain registration and age, hosting and certificate, the content the site served, and third-party reputation feeds. A score is a summary of that evidence, not a guarantee and not a legal finding. There is no human rating and no user review in it. A site can change after it is assessed.
