Full analysis

Overview

This website presents Final Draft Media as a remote editorial and proofreading agency serving the electrification, renewable-energy, HVAC, clean-technology, utilities, and broader energy-transition sectors, with an apparent business model based on paid content writing, copyediting, proofreading, and publication-management services.

Scam/Impersonation Risk

The site's homepage presents a coherent professional-services proposition and does not show transactional forms, login functionality, financial claims, cryptocurrency features, or observed brand-impersonation and phishing indicators. However, this benign page presentation is outweighed by a confirmed blacklist hit from two external sources and threat-intelligence results recording nine malicious and one suspicious detections. The combination constitutes a material contradiction to the otherwise ordinary agency presentation; the site should therefore not be treated as trustworthy for credential, account, or financial interactions. No conflicting legal-entity names were observed, so the available evidence does not establish an identity contradiction or confirmed impersonation by itself.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage describes content writing, copyediting, proofreading, and publication-management services for clean-energy and utility-sector businesses; no financial or cryptocurrency claims are present.
- The homepage capture contains no login form, hidden sensitive form, wallet connection, or external password-submission destination.
- External reputation assessment recorded 9 malicious detections, 1 suspicious detection, and a confirmed blacklist status.
- Domain registration records show registration on 2008-01-18, an age of 18.6 years, and expiration on 2027-01-18; archive records show 163 snapshots spanning 2004–2025, with 22 years tracked.

Regulatory Verification Notes

The apparent business model is a corporate editorial agency rather than a financial or investment service, and the analyzed site content does not make a licensing claim or provide a registration number. That is a disclosure and verification gap, not independent proof of misconduct. The public-facing identity remains unverified, and the available material does not independently connect the site to a confirmed real-world operator. A third-party broker-reputation dataset produced no match; this is contextual only and does not establish legal standing or regulatory authorization.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage identifies Final Draft Media and describes its editorial services, but the analyzed content contains no license claim or registration number.
- The site is hosted on AS32244, Liquid Web, L.L.C. in the United States.
- Its TLS certificate is domain-validated, issued by YR2, and valid through 2026-10-23.
- Registration records identify Register.com – Network Solutions, LLC as registrar.

What to Verify Next

Before any commercial engagement, an independent corporate-registry search should confirm the operating entity, responsible principals, and business address associated with the agency name. Client references and published work should be validated through independently sourced channels rather than relying solely on contact details presented on the site. Any proposed contract or payment arrangement should use a documented legal counterparty, written scope, and payment protections appropriate to the transaction. Confirmation of official contact channels through an offline or independently obtained route is also warranted.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage offers a contact prompt and service navigation but no transactional workflow for independently validating a contracting entity.
- The site's identity-verification status is unverified, supporting an independent operator and counterparty check before engagement.
- The apparent service model involves client contracts, one-off projects, or retainers, making legal-counterparty confirmation relevant before payment.

Summary Verdict

The overall posture is critical, with the site unsuitable for sensitive interaction on the available evidence. Its professional presentation and ordinary service model do not overcome the confirmed external reputation contradictions, and legitimacy remains unproven at the operator-identity level.

Infrastructure Integrity

The site resolves to a single apparent origin hosted by Liquid Web rather than behind a detected CDN or WAF, so the infrastructure provides limited protective separation between the public service and its hosting endpoint. The transport layer uses a valid domain-validated certificate issued by YR2, which confirms encrypted delivery but does not establish legitimacy.

Closing Assessment

Prospective users should restrict activity to passive review until the operator, contracting entity, and external reputation concerns have been independently resolved; account access, credential submission, and financial engagement should not proceed on the present evidence.

About this assessment

A trust score summarises the evidence TrustSniffer could collect about finaldraftmedia.com at assessment time. It is a starting point for your own judgement, not a guarantee: a high score means the signals were consistent with a legitimately operated site, a low or critical score means several risk patterns were present.

TrustSniffer assesses a website from the evidence it can collect at a point in time: domain registration and age, hosting and certificate, the content the site served, and third-party reputation feeds. A score is a summary of that evidence, not a guarantee and not a legal finding. There is no human rating and no user review in it. A site can change after it is assessed.
