Full analysis

Overview

FiTalent is a corporate venture capital website presenting FiTalent/FIT-II as the venture fund of the NTT DATA group. It describes investment activity focused on entrepreneurship, young companies, biotechnology and other startups, with sections for strategy, portfolio companies, newsroom content and contact information. Its apparent business model is institutional equity investment rather than retail financial services or direct consumer transactions.

Scam/Impersonation Risk

No contradiction-based scam or impersonation indicators were observed. The site's content, navigation and stated corporate venture-capital purpose are internally consistent, and the available technical and external reputation signals did not identify phishing, malicious activity or brand impersonation. The absence of sensitive forms, wallet functions and credential-collection behavior further reduces the apparent abuse surface, although the real-world operator identity remains independently unverified.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage presents a corporate venture-capital model, structured navigation and substantive investment-related content, with no identified red-flag content.
- The observed site behavior contained no login form, hidden sensitive form, wallet connection, clipboard interception or suspicious inline script.
- External reputation checks recorded zero malicious and zero suspicious detections, with no confirmed blacklist or phishing result.

Regulatory Verification Notes

The legal and identity presentation is coherent across the site's about, strategy, portfolio, newsroom and contact paths, and the site links to legal and privacy notices. However, the available evidence does not independently verify the operator's real-world identity, and no licensing or registration number is presented; this is a transparency point for verification rather than evidence of fraud. One unrelated outbound reference to a casino-deposit guide is an editorial-quality anomaly because it does not align naturally with the stated venture-capital purpose, but it does not establish an identity contradiction or regulated-activity breach. The site's low external page authority is a contextual limitation, not a determination of legitimacy.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage identifies FiTalent/FIT-II as a corporate venture-capital fund associated with NTT DATA and provides links to about, strategy, portfolio, newsroom, contact and legal/privacy content.
- No license claim, licensing authority or registration number is displayed in the reviewed site content.
- The transport layer uses a valid DV certificate issued by WE1, expiring 2026-10-31T16:53:06+00:00.
- The site is served from AS13335, CLOUDFLARENET - Cloudflare, Inc., US.

What to Verify Next

Before sensitive or high-value engagement, an independent corporate channel should confirm the claimed relationship between FiTalent/FIT-II and NTT DATA, and the applicable legal entity should be matched against authoritative corporate or investment-fund records. The relevant legal, privacy and contact pages should also be reviewed for the contracting entity, governing law, and formal communications process. Any proposed investment or partnership should be documented through independently confirmed contact channels rather than relying solely on site-provided details.

EVIDENCE

- The about and strategy pages provide the site's principal identity and business-purpose claims for independent comparison.
- The contact page provides the channel that should be cross-checked through an independently sourced NTT DATA contact route.
- The legal and privacy pages are the appropriate locations to confirm the responsible entity and applicable terms.

Summary Verdict

The website presents a moderate-trust posture: its content and behavior are consistent with a legitimate corporate information and venture-capital presence, and no contradiction-based scam or impersonation signals were identified. Confidence is moderated because the operator's real-world identity is not independently verified and disclosure clarity is incomplete.

Infrastructure Integrity

Cloudflare CDN/WAF protection is present, with all observed addresses functioning as Cloudflare edge infrastructure and no origin candidate visible in the analysis. This provides a meaningful mitigation against direct infrastructure exposure, but edge protection alone is not proof of ownership or legitimacy.

Closing Assessment

Routine informational review is proportionate; independent counterparty and transaction verification should precede sensitive disclosures, commitments or high-value financial engagement.

About this assessment

A trust score summarises the evidence TrustSniffer could collect about fitalent.es at assessment time. It is a starting point for your own judgement, not a guarantee: a high score means the signals were consistent with a legitimately operated site, a low or critical score means several risk patterns were present.

TrustSniffer assesses a website from the evidence it can collect at a point in time: domain registration and age, hosting and certificate, the content the site served, and third-party reputation feeds. A score is a summary of that evidence, not a guarantee and not a legal finding. There is no human rating and no user review in it. A site can change after it is assessed.
