Full analysis

Overview

FuturaIM is an established-looking Brazilian online printing and promotional-products retailer offering customized business cards, flyers, banners, packaging, apparel, gifts, corporate services, and pickup or delivery options through an e-commerce storefront.

Scam/Impersonation Risk

No contradictions were observed. The reviewed material presents a coherent FuturaIM printing business rather than an impersonation or phishing operation, and the site's login and contact forms do not direct sensitive submissions to an untrusted destination. Technical interaction testing recorded external network activity and console errors, but also found no hidden forms, wallet activity, credential-exfiltration form, cloaking, or brand-impersonation indicators; these observations are implementation-quality signals rather than evidence of fraud. Independent reputation checks were clean, with no malicious or suspicious detections reported.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage identifies the business as "FuturaIM Gráfica Online" and presents a consistent printing and promotional-products catalogue.
- Technical interaction testing recorded 10 external XHR requests, 10 external POST requests, 13 console errors, and 0 wallet or credential-drainer runs; hidden forms and cloaking were also not detected.
- Domain registration continuity shows registration on 2017-10-04, with an age of 8.86 years.
- Web archives contain 324 snapshots from 2018-02-24 through 2026-06-09, spanning 9 years.

Regulatory Verification Notes

The apparent business model is ordinary e-commerce for printed materials and promotional goods, not a financial or investment service requiring the type of regulatory authorization associated with brokerage or banking activity. The reviewed site material does not evidence a licensing authority or license number; this is a transparency item to confirm only if a particular service or transaction is subject to sector-specific requirements. The available evidence is consistent with an established, apparently legitimate merchant, but the real-world operator identity remains likely rather than independently verified. A third-party broker-database review produced no matching record, which is contextual reputation information and not a licensing determination.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage catalogue includes business cards, flyers, stickers, banners, packaging, uniforms, calendars, and promotional items with displayed prices and configuration details.
- The reviewed content describes corporate services, customer support, and physical pickup or delivery channels.
- The site is served on AS8075 by Microsoft Corporation; the hosting country is Brazil.
- The transport certificate is issued by GeoTrust TLS RSA CA G1, uses DV validation, and is valid through 2026-12-10.

What to Verify Next

Before credential or payment interaction, an independent check should confirm the merchant's legal identity, official support channels, delivery terms, returns and refunds process, and payment-protection options. Where a specific order or service invokes a regulated activity, the applicable Brazilian registry should be checked directly rather than relying on the website's own claims. Account credentials should be unique to this service, and higher-value orders should use payment methods with effective dispute or chargeback protections.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage provides both login and contact functions, creating a practical route for independent confirmation of account and support procedures.
- The storefront displays product specifications, prices, and order quantities, allowing delivery and refund terms to be compared with the proposed transaction.
- The site links to an Instagram social presence that can be compared with independently obtained merchant contact details.

Summary Verdict

The overall posture is high trust and low risk, with strong convergence among the site's coherent commercial purpose, sustained presence, clean reputation indicators, and stable technical operation. It should be regarded as an apparently legitimate established website, while operator identity remains not independently proven.

Infrastructure Integrity

The site is protected by a CDN/WAF layer, and the observed address belongs to an edge server rather than an identifiable origin system. This architecture mitigates direct exposure of the origin and is a positive infrastructure-control signal, although protective hosting alone does not establish merchant legitimacy. Evidence:

- Observed edge infrastructure: AS8075, Microsoft Corporation; CDN/WAF protection was present and no origin candidate was identified.

Closing Assessment

Normal browsing and ordinary commercial consideration are proportionate to the assessed posture, with independent merchant-identity, order-policy, and payment-protection checks completed before credentials or payment details are submitted.

About this assessment

A trust score summarises the evidence TrustSniffer could collect about futuraim.com.br at assessment time. It is a starting point for your own judgement, not a guarantee: a high score means the signals were consistent with a legitimately operated site, a low or critical score means several risk patterns were present.

TrustSniffer assesses a website from the evidence it can collect at a point in time: domain registration and age, hosting and certificate, the content the site served, and third-party reputation feeds. A score is a summary of that evidence, not a guarantee and not a legal finding. There is no human rating and no user review in it. A site can change after it is assessed.
