Full analysis

Overview

Hexagon Sports is a Brazil-focused sports-technology website presenting a mobile application and multi-camera video service for amateur athletes, photographers, venues, and tournament organizers. Its apparent business model is based on app distribution and paid video-capture or event-production services, with the site directing visitors toward mobile-app stores, social channels, and commercial service enquiries.

Scam/Impersonation Risk

The site's visible presentation is coherent with a sports-video application and does not show page-level phishing indicators, hidden forms, sensitive login collection, or suspected brand impersonation. However, the overall risk posture is materially affected by multiple external malicious detections and a confirmed blacklist, which are direct contradictions to an ordinary legitimate-site assessment. A separate abuse-report signal was attributed to shared infrastructure, explicitly discounted, and should not be treated as site-specific evidence; that attribution does not offset the confirmed blacklist and malicious detections. No conflicting legal-entity names or direct impersonation indicators were observed.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage presents Hexagon Sports as an amateur-sports video application with app-store links, social links, and service pathways for photographers and venues.
- The homepage analysis recorded no login form, hidden form, password-external form, wallet activity, or suspicious inline script.
- External reputation evidence recorded 3 malicious detections and a confirmed blacklist.
- Domain registration evidence records creation on 2025-08-11 and an age of 1.03 years.

Regulatory Verification Notes

The site presents a company identity and Brazilian CNPJ registration associated with São Paulo, which supports an apparent operating identity but does not independently verify the legal entity. The legal, privacy, terms-of-use, and contact pages provide a basis for review, while the available material does not show a claimed financial, investment, or other regulated-service license. This is a disclosure and verification matter rather than evidence of a scam by itself. The available broker-context check found no matching result, but that is only contextual reputational information and is not a licensing determination.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage and company-information content present a Brazil CNPJ and São Paulo registration.
- The site exposes `/privacy-policy`, `/terms-of-use`, and `/contact` pages.
- No license authority or license number is claimed in the available business-model information.
- Page-authority evidence places the site in a mid-level authority band, which is contextual only and does not establish regulatory standing.

What to Verify Next

Before any sensitive interaction, an institution should independently confirm the presented CNPJ and legal entity through the relevant Brazilian corporate registry, reconcile that entity with the contracting party and payment recipient, and review the terms and privacy disclosures for data-processing and commercial obligations. Contact channels should be validated through an independent route, and any mobile application should be obtained only from the official app-store listing reached through a separately verified company presence. Login, credential submission, or financial activity should remain restricted until those checks and the external reputation conflict have been resolved.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage provides links to the Apple App Store and Google Play, allowing the application publisher to be checked independently.
- The contact page and terms-of-use page are available for comparison against the stated corporate identity.
- The site links to Instagram, TikTok, YouTube, and LinkedIn company profiles that can be checked for consistent ownership and contact details.

Summary Verdict

The website presents a plausible and professionally structured sports-software business, but the confirmed blacklist and malicious external detections produce a low-trust posture with elevated risk for sensitive interaction. The available evidence supports only an apparent, likely connection to a real-world operator rather than independently verified identity or legitimacy.

Infrastructure Integrity

The site is protected by Fastly CDN/WAF infrastructure, which is a mitigating control that can reduce direct exposure of the underlying service, but protective hosting does not establish legitimacy or neutralize the external reputation conflict.

EVIDENCE

- Hosted on AS54113, FASTLY – Fastly, Inc., US; observed address 199.36.158.100.
- TLS certificate issued by WR3 with DV validation, valid to 2026-11-12T12:05:36+00:00.
- Infrastructure analysis identified 1 CDN edge IP and 0 likely origin IP candidates.

Closing Assessment

Sensitive use should be deferred pending independent corporate, application-publisher, contact-channel, and reputation checks; any engagement that proceeds should remain limited to non-sensitive review until those checks are satisfactory.

About this assessment

A trust score summarises the evidence TrustSniffer could collect about hexagonsports.com.br at assessment time. It is a starting point for your own judgement, not a guarantee: a high score means the signals were consistent with a legitimately operated site, a low or critical score means several risk patterns were present.

TrustSniffer assesses a website from the evidence it can collect at a point in time: domain registration and age, hosting and certificate, the content the site served, and third-party reputation feeds. A score is a summary of that evidence, not a guarantee and not a legal finding. There is no human rating and no user review in it. A site can change after it is assessed.
