Key findings

- Automated classification: Not Scam.
- Domain age: more than 10 years (registration continuity).
- Public web-archive history exists since 2010.
- VirusTotal and Google Safe Browsing had no flags for this domain; its hosting IP carries AbuseIPDB reports below the confidence level TrustSniffer treats as a flag.

Full analysis

Overview

The website presents itself as the official Joint Revenue Board of Nigeria, providing public information on tax coordination, tax-reform initiatives, Tax ID services, policy guidance, news, and public contact channels. Its apparent purpose is governmental revenue administration and public-service delivery rather than commercial sales or investment activity.

Scam/Impersonation Risk

No contradictions were observed across the supplied evidence: there were no confirmed phishing, impersonation, malicious-site, or blacklist findings, and the site's content is consistent with a Nigerian public-service institution. A page-level similarity signal referencing t.me was not corroborated as brand impersonation; the page assessment specifically found no suspected brand impersonation. Fourteen abuse reports associated with the observed Render-hosted IP are attributed to shared infrastructure rather than to the website itself, so they do not establish site-level abuse. The available evidence therefore supports an apparently legitimate, low-risk site, while independently confirming the real-world operator remains appropriate.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage is classified as government/public-service content and identifies the Joint Revenue Board as an official Nigerian institution; no page red flags were recorded.
- External reputation checks recorded 0 malicious and 0 suspicious detections, with no confirmed phishing or impersonation finding.
- Registration continuity indicates a domain age of 16.34 years; archival coverage records 120 snapshots from 2010-04-06 through 2026-07-15, spanning 17 tracked years.

Regulatory Verification Notes

The website's stated function is a public revenue-coordination mandate, supported by structured sections for services, policies and reforms, news, and contact information. No commercial license claim or license number is evidenced, which is consistent with the stated public-service model but leaves the precise institutional authorization and operational responsibility to be confirmed through official Nigerian government channels. The government-domain context, sustained historical presence, coherent public-service content, and clean site behavior are materially consistent with an established site; they do not independently prove the legal identity of the operator.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage describes coordination among federal and state tax authorities and provides Tax ID retrieval and verification functions.
- The site is served on AS397273 (RENDER - Render, US); its TLS certificate is issued by WE1 at DV validation level and is valid to 2026-10-29T11:46:21+00:00.
- The site uses the government-oriented `gov.ng` domain space and provides dedicated About, Services, Policies & Reforms, Media Centre, and Contact Us sections.

What to Verify Next

Before credential or payment interactions, an organization should independently confirm that the Joint Revenue Board and the relevant Tax ID service are referenced through an authoritative Nigerian government directory or offline government contact route. The applicable service terms, data-use notice, and dispute or payment-protection arrangements should also be reviewed, particularly if the workflow requests personal or taxpayer information. Official contact channels should be confirmed independently rather than relying solely on details presented within the site.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage provides Get Tax ID and Verify Tax ID entry points, making the authenticity of those workflows a material verification step.
- The homepage contains one newsletter-signup form and no detected login or sensitive-data form.
- The site publishes Contact Us information and identifies its institutional purpose through dedicated public-service navigation.

Summary Verdict

The overall posture is high trust and low risk, with evidence consistent with an established, apparently legitimate government information and service website. The available evidence does not independently verify the real-world operator identity, so legitimacy should be understood as strongly supported rather than proven.

Infrastructure Integrity

The site is protected by Cloudflare CDN/WAF infrastructure, and the observed addresses are CDN edge addresses rather than identified origin candidates. This reduces direct exposure of the underlying service and is a mitigating technical control, but it is not by itself proof of institutional legitimacy.

EVIDENCE

- Cloudflare CDN/WAF protection was identified, with 2 observed edge IP addresses and 0 likely origin-IP candidates.
- The resolved infrastructure is located in the United States and uses Render-hosted service infrastructure.

Closing Assessment

Normal informational use is proportionate to the current assessment; credential or payment activity should proceed only after the ordinary independent identity, service-term, and payment-protection checks have been completed.

About this assessment

A trust score summarises the evidence TrustSniffer could collect about jtb.gov.ng at assessment time. It is a starting point for your own judgement, not a guarantee: a high score means the signals were consistent with a legitimately operated site, a low or critical score means several risk patterns were present.

TrustSniffer assesses a website from the evidence it can collect at a point in time: domain registration and age, hosting and certificate, the content the site served, and third-party reputation feeds. A score is a summary of that evidence, not a guarantee and not a legal finding. There is no human rating and no user review in it. A site can change after it is assessed.
