Full analysis

Overview

Judith Leoni's website is a personal Australian author and portfolio site presenting biographical material and a memoir trilogy covering family history, rural Western Australian life, nursing, midwifery, and later experiences; its apparent purpose is author promotion and informational support for her books.

Scam/Impersonation Risk

The site content itself appears informational and benign: the homepage identifies Judith Leoni as an Australian author, describes three memoir volumes, and presents no login, payment, or sensitive-data forms. However, this benign presentation is outweighed by a confirmed external blacklist hit and three malicious detections from an evaluated reputation service. These are material contradictions to the site's apparently harmless purpose and support a high-risk posture for credentials, financial activity, or other sensitive interaction. No brand impersonation, phishing form, or conflicting legal-entity identity was identified in the supplied page findings, so the concern is reputational and technical rather than a demonstrated impersonation mechanism.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage presents an author biography and memoir trilogy, with no forms or transactional prompts detected.
- The domain was registered on 2009-11-15 and is 16.77 years old.
- Web-archive records contain 487 snapshots spanning 2010–2026, with 17 years tracked.
- External reputation evidence records 3 malicious detections and a confirmed blacklist hit.

Regulatory Verification Notes

The supplied page content describes a personal author and book-promotion model rather than a regulated financial service. It does not present a license, registration number, or regulated-service claim, and the real-world operator identity remains unverified by the available evidence. That is a verification limitation rather than proof of misconduct; nevertheless, the confirmed external reputation findings materially reduce confidence in relying on the site for any sensitive interaction. The site's transport and hosting records provide technical continuity but do not establish legal identity or regulatory standing.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage is titled "Judith Leoni - Australian Author" and describes autobiographical books and the author's life history.
- The site is hosted on AS55803 by HOSTOPIA-AU - Hostopia Australia Web Pty Ltd, AU.
- The site uses a DV TLS certificate issued by YR1, valid to 2026-11-17.
- No license claim, license authority, or license number is presented in the supplied business-model evidence.

What to Verify Next

Before any sensitive interaction, an organization should independently confirm that the domain is an officially authorized channel for Judith Leoni or the relevant publisher, using a source separate from the website. The external blacklist result should also be adjudicated through independent technical review before any allowlisting decision. If the site is expected to support book purchases or enquiries, payment and contact routes should be confirmed through an independently sourced publisher, bookseller, or offline contact channel. If any regulated activity is later associated with the domain, the responsible entity and authorization should be checked directly with the applicable registry.

EVIDENCE

- The site's detected page type is "Author / Personal," with informational content and no sensitive form.
- Browser testing detected no login form, hidden sensitive form, wallet connection, external password form, or clipboard-hijacking behavior.
- The site's page content identifies the author and memoir trilogy but does not establish an independently verified legal operator.

Summary Verdict

The overall posture is low trust with sensitive-interaction risk. The site appears to be a genuine informational author page in content and behavior, but that presentation does not overcome the confirmed external reputation contradictions. Identity and legitimacy therefore remain unverified for enterprise reliance.

Infrastructure Integrity

The site resolves directly to a single hosting address without a detected CDN or WAF layer, and the infrastructure presents a likely origin rather than a protected edge service. This provides limited defensive separation between the website and its hosting environment; valid transport encryption should be treated as a confidentiality control, not as evidence of legitimacy.

Closing Assessment

Restrict use to passive, read-only browsing unless the external reputation findings and the site’s official authorization are independently resolved; credentials, financial details, downloads, and other sensitive interactions should not be submitted in the interim.

Written analysis generated 2026-08-20 by the TrustSniffer Analysis Engine from the evidence in this report.

What the analysis found

2 findings contributed to this verdict, raised by registration and ownership, analysis engine.

- 01 Governance Risk

 - The registration record withholds contact details for the operator.
Registration and ownership rule:KF_WHOIS_HIDDEN
 - Registration details are held behind a privacy service, so no operator is named publicly. This is common and legal, and it also means there is nobody to check.
Registration and ownership rule:KF_WHOIS_PRIVATE
- 02 Sensitive Interaction Risk

 - The analysis matched a pattern TrustSniffer treats as a direct threat to a visitor.

About this assessment

A trust score summarises the evidence TrustSniffer could collect about judithleoni.com at assessment time. It is a starting point for your own judgement, not a guarantee: a high score means the signals were consistent with a legitimately operated site, a low or critical score means several risk patterns were present.

TrustSniffer assesses a website from the evidence it can collect at a point in time: domain registration and age, hosting and certificate, the content the site served, and third-party reputation feeds. A score is a summary of that evidence, not a guarantee and not a legal finding. There is no human rating and no user review in it. A site can change after it is assessed.
