Full analysis

Overview

Kaisan is an established-looking Brazilian online retailer presenting fashion and fitness apparel through product listings, collections, prices, promotions, installment options, shipping offers, customer support, and checkout functionality; its apparent business model is direct-to-consumer clothing sales.

Scam/Impersonation Risk

No contradictions were observed across the supplied evidence: there were no blacklist or phishing findings, no detected brand impersonation, no malicious or suspicious reputation results, and no conflicting legal identities. The storefront presents a coherent retail purpose rather than a high-risk financial or investment proposition, and its product catalogue, pricing, shipping information, contact details, and company address are consistent with that model. The available evidence therefore supports an apparently legitimate, low-risk website, while the real-world operator identity remains independently unverified.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage and product catalogue present Kaisan-branded fashion and fitness apparel, with no detected impersonation indicators or suspicious content markers.
- External reputation checks recorded zero malicious and zero suspicious detections, with no blacklist or phishing hit.
- Domain registration records show registration in 2010, with an age of 15.76 years.
- Historical records contain 389 archive snapshots spanning 2011–2026, covering 16 tracked years.

Regulatory Verification Notes

The site is an apparel retailer rather than a presented financial-services provider, so no financial licence claim is apparent or required by the described business model. The pages provide merchant-facing contact and address information, but the available evidence does not independently verify that the named operator corresponds to the real-world business behind the site. This is an identity-assurance limitation, not evidence of deception. A third-party broker-reputation dataset produced no match and should be treated only as contextual support, not as a legal or licensing determination.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage identifies the business as “Kaisan | Moda Fitness” and provides customer-service and shipping information.
- The product catalogue and checkout flow support direct retail sales, including product prices, promotions, coupons, and instalment options.
- The registration record lists Janaina da Silva as the domain owner; this record does not independently establish the operating entity.
- The site is hosted on AS16509, Amazon.com, Inc. (AMAZON-02), US; its TLS certificate is Amazon RSA 2048 M04, DV-validated, and valid through 2026-11-29.

What to Verify Next

Before credential or payment interactions, an ordinary independent merchant-identity check should confirm that the business name, physical address, customer-service channels, and payment recipient are consistent across an external commercial registry or other independent source. The applicable return, cancellation, delivery, refund, and instalment terms should be reviewed on the site and retained with the order record. Payment should use a method offering transaction dispute or buyer protection, and the checkout should be confirmed to remain within the expected merchant flow.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage and catalogue expose merchant contact, shipping, and address information suitable for independent comparison.
- The site contains a newsletter form and checkout-cart form, with no detected password or hidden sensitive form.
- Product pages visibly combine prices, promotions, shipping thresholds, and instalment information, making those terms relevant to pre-purchase review.

Summary Verdict

Available evidence is consistent with an established, apparently legitimate website offering ordinary retail services. No scam or impersonation contradiction was identified, and the overall posture is high trust with low observed site risk; however, operator identity is not independently verified.

Infrastructure Integrity

The website is protected by AWS CDN/WAF infrastructure, with observed edge servers and a potential origin candidate. This mainstream protective deployment is a mitigating technical control that can reduce direct exposure of the service infrastructure, but it does not independently prove business legitimacy.

Closing Assessment

Normal browsing and routine retail consideration are proportionate, subject to the ordinary independent merchant, returns, and payment-protection checks expected before credentials or payment details are submitted.

About this assessment

A trust score summarises the evidence TrustSniffer could collect about kaisan.com.br at assessment time. It is a starting point for your own judgement, not a guarantee: a high score means the signals were consistent with a legitimately operated site, a low or critical score means several risk patterns were present.

TrustSniffer assesses a website from the evidence it can collect at a point in time: domain registration and age, hosting and certificate, the content the site served, and third-party reputation feeds. A score is a summary of that evidence, not a guarantee and not a legal finding. There is no human rating and no user review in it. A site can change after it is assessed.
