Full analysis

Overview

The Living Law Society website presents itself as a private educational organization focused on equity, trust, and "lawful order," offering educational materials, courses, a featured book, membership options, merchandise, and related media for purchase.

Scam/Impersonation Risk

A confirmed blacklist detection creates a material risk for sensitive interactions, notwithstanding the site's informational presentation and the absence of observed credential-harvesting forms, wallet-connect behavior, or obvious financial-deposit mechanisms. The homepage uses institutional language such as "private educational body" and promotes education, membership, and book sales, but the available evidence does not independently establish that the operator is the real-world entity represented by the site. No separate identity contradiction or explicit brand impersonation was identified. A published contact address, "info@livinglawsociety.org," also contains a contact-channel integrity anomaly because the address uses a domain different from the website's principal domain, which may affect deliverability or indicate a possible typosquat. Evidence:

- External reputation telemetry records `external_blacklist: true`; the evaluated reputation results also include 1 malicious and 1 suspicious detection.
- The archive records 611 snapshots from 2019-06-16 through 2025-02-21, spanning 7 tracked years; this establishes historical web presence but does not neutralize the current blacklist signal.
- WHOIS records registration on 2026-04-14T21:20:10Z, with an age of 0.35 years; this conflicts with the longer archival continuity and leaves domain provenance requiring careful interpretation.

Regulatory Verification Notes

The site's stated model is educational and commercial rather than custodial or deposit-taking: it offers courses, books, membership, a shop, music, and merchandise. The available page material does not show a license claim, license number, or identified regulatory authority, so the legal status of any paid membership, educational service, or merchandise activity remains a transparency and verification matter rather than proof of wrongdoing. The About, Terms, Contact, Education, Library, Membership, and Shop navigation provides substantive site structure, but the supplied content does not independently verify a legal entity behind those pages. Evidence:

- The homepage identifies the organization as "Living Law Society" and describes it as a "private educational body" dedicated to the study of trust and equity law.
- The site navigation exposes About, Terms, Contact, Education, Membership, Purchase, Shop, and Merch pages, while the captured content identifies no license authority or registration number.
- The site is hosted on AS13335, CLOUDFLARENET—Cloudflare, Inc., US; its TLS certificate is issued by YE2 using DV validation and is valid until 2026-11-09T03:43:40+00:00.

What to Verify Next

Before any payment, membership enrollment, or provision of personal information, independently confirm the operator's legal name, physical business presence, refund terms, and the status of any education-related or commercial authorization claimed outside the website. Payment should use a method offering meaningful dispute rights, and official support channels should be confirmed through an independent route rather than relying solely on contact details presented on the site. Sensitive account use should be deferred until the blacklist result and operator identity have been resolved by an authoritative review. Evidence:

- The business model includes paid membership, book and media sales, and a shop, creating a direct need to confirm merchant identity and consumer-remedy terms.
- The site's apparent risk model is informational, with no observed sensitive form, login form, wallet connection, or credential-collection behavior.
- The available identity connection is assessed as likely rather than independently verified, so external confirmation remains necessary for material transactions.

Summary Verdict

The website has a coherent educational and membership-oriented presentation, but its overall posture is moderate trust with elevated sensitive-interaction risk. The confirmed blacklist contradiction prevents the available positive content and technical stability signals from supporting unrestricted confidence in payments, credentials, or other consequential engagement.

Infrastructure Integrity

The site is protected by Cloudflare CDN/WAF infrastructure, and all observed addresses are Cloudflare edge servers rather than an exposed origin. This provides a meaningful defensive layer against direct origin exposure, but it is a hosting and traffic-protection characteristic—not evidence that the site operator is legitimate. Evidence:

- Hosting telemetry identifies AS13335, Cloudflare, Inc., US, with observed edge IPs 104.21.24.129, 172.67.218.237, 2606:4700:3033::ac43:daed, and 2606:4700:3037::6815:1881.
- Four unique IP addresses were observed, all associated with Cloudflare CDN edge infrastructure; no origin candidate was identified.
- The site’s transport encryption uses a DV certificate issued by YE2, expiring 2026-11-09T03:43:40+00:00.

Closing Assessment

The proportionate course is to restrict activity to non-sensitive review until the blacklist result, operator identity, and transaction protections have been independently resolved; any eventual payment should use a protected, reversible method.

About this assessment

A trust score summarises the evidence TrustSniffer could collect about livinglawsociety.org at assessment time. It is a starting point for your own judgement, not a guarantee: a high score means the signals were consistent with a legitimately operated site, a low or critical score means several risk patterns were present.

TrustSniffer assesses a website from the evidence it can collect at a point in time: domain registration and age, hosting and certificate, the content the site served, and third-party reputation feeds. A score is a summary of that evidence, not a guarantee and not a legal finding. There is no human rating and no user review in it. A site can change after it is assessed.
