Full analysis

Overview

meemanshu.in presents itself as the website of Meemanshu Memorial Charitable Organisation, offering information about annual scholarship examinations for students, including question papers, answer keys, examination results, and a success gallery. Its apparent purpose is informational and charitable rather than commercial, with no on-page donation, payment, login, or credential-collection mechanism identified.

Scam/Impersonation Risk

The site's visible content is consistent with a small nonprofit information site and contains no detected impersonation branding, payment flow, credential form, or other page-level fraud mechanism. However, this benign presentation is outweighed by confirmed external contradiction signals: the domain is listed on an external blacklist and multiple malicious detections were recorded. Abuse reports associated with shared data-centre infrastructure are relevant context but do not, by themselves, establish that the organisation caused those reports. The historical record also shows a provenance inconsistency: archival captures begin before the current registration date, although the archive assessment found no confirmed repurposing or semantic drift. Accordingly, the site should not be treated as safe for sensitive interaction merely because its current pages appear charitable.

EVIDENCE

- External reputation assessment recorded a blacklist hit and 3 malicious plus 2 suspicious detections for the domain.
- The shared hosting IP associated with external abuse reporting has 673 reports; attribution is to shared infrastructure rather than directly to the website.
- The domain registration record states creation on 2022-07-21 and an age of 4.08 years.
- Web archives contain 350 snapshots spanning 2014–2026, covering 13 tracked years; the historical assessment found no confirmed suspicious repurposing.

Regulatory Verification Notes

The homepage identifies “Meemanshu Memorial Charitable Organisation” and describes scholarship examinations, but the available pages do not provide a clearly verifiable legal, charitable-registration, or licensing reference. This is a regulatory and organisational transparency matter, not independent proof of misconduct. The operator’s real-world identity remains only likely rather than independently verified. The low authority signal and absence of a broker-dataset match provide limited corroboration; neither is a legal or regulatory determination.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage identifies the organisation and states that it conducts yearly scholarship examinations for students of every class.
- The question-paper and answer-key page and the examination-results page provide the stated programme outputs but no visible registration or licensing reference.
- The site is served from AS16509, Amazon.com, Inc., United States.
- TLS is issued by YE1 at DV validation level and is valid to 2026-10-02.

What to Verify Next

Before any sensitive engagement, an independent party should confirm that the named organisation exists in the relevant charitable or corporate registry and that the published examination programme and results can be corroborated through an independently sourced institutional channel. Contact and social-media channels should be validated separately from the website, and any request for credentials, identity documents, financial information, or payment should be declined unless the organisation and transaction purpose have been independently authenticated.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage links to Facebook, Twitter, and Instagram but does not provide independently validated organisational records.
- The site contains no login form, sensitive form, or on-page donation/payment mechanism.
- The site’s stated programme can be cross-checked against the question-paper, answer-key, and examination-results pages.

Summary Verdict

The overall posture is critical and unsuitable for sensitive interaction. The site has a plausible charitable presentation, but the confirmed blacklist and malicious-detection signals create a material trust failure that the available content and identity indications do not overcome.

Infrastructure Integrity

The website is protected by AWS CDN/WAF infrastructure, with observed edge addresses in AS16509 and no origin candidate exposed in the analysis. This provides a mitigating layer against direct infrastructure exposure, but it does not validate the operator or offset the external reputation findings.

Closing Assessment

Passive review of publicly displayed material may be limited to the minimum necessary, while login, credential submission, financial activity, and disclosure of sensitive information should be withheld pending independent organisational and channel verification.

About this assessment

A trust score summarises the evidence TrustSniffer could collect about meemanshu.in at assessment time. It is a starting point for your own judgement, not a guarantee: a high score means the signals were consistent with a legitimately operated site, a low or critical score means several risk patterns were present.

TrustSniffer assesses a website from the evidence it can collect at a point in time: domain registration and age, hosting and certificate, the content the site served, and third-party reputation feeds. A score is a summary of that evidence, not a guarantee and not a legal finding. There is no human rating and no user review in it. A site can change after it is assessed.
