Full analysis

Overview

This is a corporate Orange Maroc telecommunications and e-commerce website presenting mobile plans, prepaid recharges, home internet and fiber services, Orange Money, devices, digital services, and customer support, with the apparent business purpose of selling subscriptions, products, and related transaction services.

Scam/Impersonation Risk

No contradictions were observed. The homepage presents a coherent telecom business model covering mobile tariffs, Yoxo plans, fiber and home internet, prepaid recharges, Orange Money, device sales, and customer assistance; these are standard commercial services rather than unusual investment or high-risk financial propositions. Page analysis found no phishing, impersonation, malicious-content, or other fraud indicators, and external reputation checks were clean. A single abuse report associated with the observed IP was attributed to shared provider infrastructure, carried no confidence, and was discounted for that reason. The site therefore appears legitimate and low risk from a scam or impersonation perspective, although the real-world operator identity remains independently unverified.

EVIDENCE

- Registration record: Registered 2016 (~9.85 years old).
- Homepage: Orange Maroc branding, structured telecom product categories, customer-support pathways, and ordinary promotional pricing; no red flags detected.
- External reputation: No malicious or suspicious detections, no phishing warning, and no brand-impersonation finding; the observed traffic footprint is within the global top one million.
- Hosting-IP assessment: One abuse report was linked to shared provider infrastructure and assigned zero confidence.

Regulatory Verification Notes

The available content is consistent with an established telecommunications operator, but the site's presentation of the Orange Maroc identity is not independent proof of the legal entity operating the website. No licensing authority or registration number is disclosed in the supplied content, so regulatory status and the precise contracting entity should be confirmed through the relevant telecommunications and corporate registries. This is a transparency and verification matter, not evidence of a scam. No broker-reputation match was identified. The transport layer provides additional technical assurance through a valid organization-validated certificate issued to Orange SA, while certificate expiry should be monitored as part of normal operational diligence.

EVIDENCE

- Transport encryption: TLS certificate issued by DigiCert Global G2 TLS RSA SHA256 2020 CA1, validation level OV, subject organization Orange SA, valid to 2026-09-15.
- Homepage: The site identifies its business as Orange Maroc and presents telecom subscriptions, devices, digital services, and customer support.
- Regulatory disclosure: No license number or licensing authority is claimed in the supplied site content.
- External business context: No match was returned in the available broker-reputation check.

What to Verify Next

Before credential or payment interactions, independently confirm the contracting Orange Maroc entity, applicable telecommunications authorization, and the legal terms governing subscriptions and purchases. Confirm return, cancellation, refund, and payment-protection arrangements through independently obtained official contact channels rather than relying solely on contact details reached through the website.

EVIDENCE

- Homepage: Commercial offerings include subscriptions, devices, recharges, and payment-related services that create contractual and payment obligations.
- Site content: Customer-support and account-management pathways are presented, providing channels whose authenticity can be checked independently.
- Regulatory record: The supplied content does not provide a licensing authority or registration number for direct registry comparison.

Summary Verdict

The overall posture is high trust and low risk, with the available evidence consistent with an established, apparently legitimate website. The assessment supports normal website interaction in principle, but does not independently verify the real-world operator identity.

Infrastructure Integrity

The site resolves through direct hosting provided by MEDITELECOM - MEDITELECOM, MA, with no CDN or WAF detected and a likely origin address exposed rather than an intermediary edge. The hosting arrangement does not itself establish legitimacy, but it presents no infrastructure contradiction to the assessed posture.

Closing Assessment

Ordinary use is proportionate to the available evidence; credentials or payments should follow the routine independent checks of merchant identity, contractual terms, and payment protection described above.

About this assessment

A trust score summarises the evidence TrustSniffer could collect about orange.ma at assessment time. It is a starting point for your own judgement, not a guarantee: a high score means the signals were consistent with a legitimately operated site, a low or critical score means several risk patterns were present.

TrustSniffer assesses a website from the evidence it can collect at a point in time: domain registration and age, hosting and certificate, the content the site served, and third-party reputation feeds. A score is a summary of that evidence, not a guarantee and not a legal finding. There is no human rating and no user review in it. A site can change after it is assessed.
