Full analysis

Overview

Remitpay is an Indian utility-bill payment and recharge platform for consumers and businesses, presenting electricity, water, gas, DTH, and mobile-payment services with account access and payment-processing functionality.

No phishing, impersonation, or conflicting-identity indicators were observed. The principal credibility concern is that the homepage presents Remitpay as a “major worldwide leader” and displays substantial merchant, transaction, and employee counters without supporting evidence in the supplied content; this is a claim-evidence gap, not confirmation of fraud.

The site provides About, Terms, Privacy, Refund, and Contact pages and identifies its service as payment processing, but the supplied pages do not state a licensing authority or registration number, and transaction fees and the complete payment flow are not clearly explained. The registered organization is Aksom Enterprises, while Remitpay functions as the presented service brand; the available evidence does not establish an identity contradiction. External reputation checks returned no malicious findings, although this is contextual rather than a legal or regulatory determination.

Confirm the operating entity and any applicable payment-services authorization through the relevant Indian registry, review the refund and fee terms before funding an account, and validate official contact channels through an independent route. Initial transactions should remain limited until those checks are complete.

The overall posture is moderate and verification-dependent. The site has a coherent utility-payment presentation and no observed indicators of active impersonation or malicious distribution, but its business credibility and regulatory standing are not sufficiently established by the supplied content to support an unrestricted high-value assessment.

The site resolves to a single likely origin hosted on Google Cloud Platform, with no CDN edge detected. This mainstream hosting environment is a mitigating infrastructure signal, but it does not independently establish the operator's legitimacy.

Routine exploration may proceed, while high-value or sensitive transactions should await independent confirmation of the operator's credentials and commercial terms.

- The homepage advertises 80K+ merchants, 80L+ transactions, and 80+ employees without substantiating detail.
- Domain registration: 2022-10-04; age 3.83 years; registrar GoDaddy.com, LLC.
- Web archives contain 35 snapshots spanning 2024–2026, covering 3 tracked years.

- The homepage and policy pages provide service descriptions and legal-policy links but no disclosed license number or licensing authority.
- Hosted on AS396982 (Google Cloud Platform – Google LLC, US).
- TLS certificate issued by YR1, DV validation, valid to 2026-10-15.
- The Contact, Terms & Condition, Privacy Policy, and Refund Policy pages are the primary documents requiring review.
- The homepage states that users may pay directly from a bank account or credit card but does not fully describe the transaction-flow structure.
- Public traffic ranking is 93,238, providing evidence of an established online presence but not regulatory validation.

About this assessment

A trust score summarises the evidence TrustSniffer could collect about remitpay.co.in at assessment time. It is a starting point for your own judgement, not a guarantee: a high score means the signals were consistent with a legitimately operated site, a low or critical score means several risk patterns were present.

TrustSniffer assesses a website from the evidence it can collect at a point in time: domain registration and age, hosting and certificate, the content the site served, and third-party reputation feeds. A score is a summary of that evidence, not a guarantee and not a legal finding. There is no human rating and no user review in it. A site can change after it is assessed.
