- The operator behind the site could not be independently connected to a real-world brand or person.

Full analysis

Overview

The website is the official public-service portal presented as “Gobierno de Río Negro,” providing provincial news, information about authorities and institutions, public procedures, health and education initiatives, infrastructure updates, procurement resources, transparency information, and administrative services.

Scam/Impersonation Risk

No phishing, impersonation, blacklist, or other contradictory signals were observed. The homepage presents a coherent government-service model rather than a commercial or transactional scheme, and the available technical and external reputation checks are consistent with ordinary public-sector publishing. Identity linkage remains unverified, so the apparent official character should not be treated as independently proven.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage is titled “Inicio | Gobierno de Río Negro” and contains government-specific sections for authorities, the Casa de Gobierno, transparency, procurement, budgets, public works, and provincial services.
- The homepage contains no sensitive login form, payment form, wallet connection, hidden form, password submission, or untrusted destination.
- External reputation checks recorded 0 malicious detections, 0 suspicious detections, and no Google Safe Browsing malicious result for the domain; the domain has a Tranco rank of 61265.

Regulatory Verification Notes

The site identifies itself through provincial-government content and links to administrative resources, but the available evidence does not independently verify the real-world operator identity. No financial license or license number is presented in the supplied site content; given the stated public-service model, this is a transparency and verification note rather than evidence of wrongdoing. The site’s legal and governance disclosure should therefore be treated as incomplete for purposes of formal institutional onboarding, despite the absence of observed fraud indicators.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage links to “Autoridades,” “Autoridades y Organismos,” “Casa de Gobierno,” “Transparencia,” “Presupuesto,” “Boletín Oficial,” “Compras y licitaciones,” and “Consulta de expedientes.”
- The site’s transport encryption uses an OV certificate issued by Sectigo Public Server Authentication CA OV R36, valid to 2027-04-10T23:59:59+00:00.
- The site’s hosting infrastructure is identified as AS10834, Telefonica de Argentina, AR.

What to Verify Next

For formal or sensitive engagement, an institution should independently confirm that the domain is referenced by an official provincial-government registry or offline government contact route, and should reconcile the responsible department shown on the relevant service page with the intended transaction or data request. Any account or administrative access should be reached through the independently confirmed government domain rather than an unsolicited message or redirect. Where a process involves legally significant submissions, procurement, payments, or personal information, the applicable public authority and authorization basis should be confirmed before completion.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage provides direct navigation to authorities, government organisms, offices, transparency materials, procurement, and public procedures that can support independent cross-checking.
- The site describes “RIOBOT” as a channel for consultations about procedures, appointments, and services.
- The homepage includes an “Intranet” and “Login” navigation item, while the captured page itself does not expose a sensitive login form.

Summary Verdict

The website has a moderate-trust posture and is consistent with an established public-sector information portal, with no observed scam or impersonation contradictions. The principal limitation is confidence in independently connecting the online presence to the responsible real-world entity, so the site should be regarded as apparently legitimate rather than conclusively verified.

Infrastructure Integrity

The domain resolves to one identified address, 200.51.198.54, on Telefonica de Argentina’s AS10834 network in Argentina. No CDN or WAF was detected, and the infrastructure appears directly hosted rather than edge-distributed; this provides less protective abstraction than a mainstream CDN but is not, by itself, evidence of malicious activity. The certificate and identified hosting environment provide useful technical consistency signals.

Closing Assessment

Ordinary informational browsing is proportionate to the available evidence, while sensitive submissions, administrative access, or high-value institutional actions should proceed only after the responsible public authority and communication path have been independently confirmed.

About this assessment

A trust score summarises the evidence TrustSniffer could collect about rionegro.gov.ar at assessment time. It is a starting point for your own judgement, not a guarantee: a high score means the signals were consistent with a legitimately operated site, a low or critical score means several risk patterns were present.

TrustSniffer assesses a website from the evidence it can collect at a point in time: domain registration and age, hosting and certificate, the content the site served, and third-party reputation feeds. A score is a summary of that evidence, not a guarantee and not a legal finding. There is no human rating and no user review in it. A site can change after it is assessed.
