Full analysis

Overview

Sacharq is a corporate portfolio website for a creative architecture and interior-design studio, presenting architectural and interior-design services, project work, furniture catalogues, execution services, team information, and contact channels for prospective clients.

Scam/Impersonation Risk

Confirmed external contradictions materially outweigh the site's otherwise conventional presentation. Multiple external reputation detections identify the domain as malicious or suspicious, and two external sources record a blacklist listing; this is the decisive reason for the elevated sensitive-interaction risk. The reviewed pages themselves present a design-studio model, named team members, project materials, social links, and a non-sensitive contact form, with no observed login, credential-harvesting, financial-deposit, cryptocurrency, or brand-impersonation mechanism. Those benign page characteristics reduce evidence of an overt on-page abuse pattern but do not resolve the external reputation conflict. No identity contradiction between distinct legal-entity names was observed.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage identifies Sacharq as an architecture, interior-design, construction-execution, and space-implementation studio and names Patricio Chavez and Daniela Malaga.
- The contact page contains one contact form without a password or other sensitive-input field; reviewed behavior recorded no hidden forms or external password submission.
- External reputation records report 4 malicious detections and 1 suspicious detection among 5 evaluated results, with blacklist status recorded by 2 sources.
- Domain registration evidence shows creation on 2016-08-25T21:04:52Z, with an age of 9.99 years; historical coverage is recorded from 2018-08-06T03:18:02Z through 2025-07-13T09:56:13Z across 8 years, but is sparse.

Regulatory Verification Notes

The website's apparent business is professional design and project delivery rather than a regulated financial service. Its pages provide service descriptions, portfolio material, team information, and contact routes, but the supplied content does not show a corporate registration number, professional registration, or other independently verifiable legal-entity disclosure. This is a regulatory and identity-verification gap, not by itself evidence of fraud. The site's real-world operator identity remains likely rather than independently verified, and the external blacklist status should be treated as a material reputational barrier requiring resolution before any sensitive engagement.

EVIDENCE

- The services and about pages describe architecture, interior design, conceptual art, furniture, and execution of works, without presenting a regulated financial offering.
- The contact page provides telephone, email, and form-based enquiry channels but no displayed registration or licensing identifier.
- The domain's registrar is GoDaddy.com, LLC.
- The site is served on AS22611, operated by InMotion Hosting, Inc.; its TLS certificate is issued by YR2 at DV validation level and is valid to 2026-10-30.

What to Verify Next

An enterprise or prospective client should obtain the studio's full contracting legal name, registered address, invoicing entity, and responsible professional details through an independently sourced business record or professional registry. Contact details should be confirmed through an offline or independently obtained route, and any quotation, deposit, catalogue purchase, or project payment should use a contract and payment method providing appropriate commercial recourse. The external blacklist detections should also be escalated to the organisation's security or fraud team for domain-level disposition before credentials, payment information, or confidential project material are exchanged.

EVIDENCE

- The site's own pages identify a studio and its named personnel but do not independently establish the contracting legal entity.
- The site offers project, furniture, and consulting-related contact pathways rather than a self-service financial transaction flow.
- The reviewed form analysis found one contact form and no sensitive form destination.

Summary Verdict

The overall posture is low trust with elevated sensitive-interaction risk. The website appears substantively consistent with a small architecture and interior-design operation, but that apparent legitimacy is not sufficient to overcome the confirmed external reputation contradictions. Identity confidence therefore remains qualified, and sensitive engagement is not supported by the available evidence.

Infrastructure Integrity

The domain resolves directly to infrastructure operated by InMotion Hosting in the United States, with no CDN detected and one likely origin address. The valid DV TLS certificate provides transport protection, but hosting and encryption are technical safeguards only and do not establish the site operator's legitimacy or offset the external reputation findings.

Closing Assessment

Until the external reputation issue and contracting identity are independently resolved, activity should remain limited to non-sensitive review and controlled business verification, with credentials, confidential submissions, and payments withheld.

What the analysis found

2 findings contributed to this verdict, raised by registration and ownership, analysis engine, external reputation.

01 Governance Risk

- Registration details are held behind a privacy service, so no operator is named publicly. This is common and legal, and it also means there is nobody to check.

Registration and ownership rule:KF_WHOIS_PRIVATE

- The registration record withholds contact details for the operator.

Registration and ownership rule:KF_WHOIS_HIDDEN

02 Sensitive Interaction Risk

- The analysis matched a pattern TrustSniffer treats as a direct threat to a visitor.

Analysis engine signal:direct_threat

- An external threat feed lists this domain: either Google Safe Browsing marked it malicious, or a significant number of malware engines flagged it.

External reputation rule:EXT_BLACKLIST_CRITICAL

About this assessment

A trust score summarises the evidence TrustSniffer could collect about sacharq.com at assessment time. It is a starting point for your own judgement, not a guarantee: a high score means the signals were consistent with a legitimately operated site, a low or critical score means several risk patterns were present.

TrustSniffer assesses a website from the evidence it can collect at a point in time: domain registration and age, hosting and certificate, the content the site served, and third-party reputation feeds. A score is a summary of that evidence, not a guarantee and not a legal finding. There is no human rating and no user review in it. A site can change after it is assessed.
