- The operator behind the site could not be independently connected to a real-world brand or person.

Full analysis

Overview

Shanghai municipal government portal presenting official news, policy releases, administrative documents, public-service information, department links, and citizen-engagement facilities. Its apparent purpose is civic communication and government service delivery rather than commercial transactions.

Scam/Impersonation Risk

No contradictory signals were observed. The homepage identifies the institution as the Shanghai municipal government and provides government news, policy material, and public-service navigation consistent with that purpose; analysis found no phishing, impersonation, malicious behavior, or suspicious content indicators. The apparent institutional identity is strong, although the real-world operator connection remains independently unverified.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage is titled “上海市人民政府” and contains sections for news, policy publication, government services, information disclosure, and public interaction.
- The page analysis recorded no red flags, no suspected brand impersonation, no sensitive login form, and no external password-submission destination.
- The domain was registered on 1999-01-07 and is recorded as approximately 27.62 years old.
- External reputation checks recorded zero malicious and zero suspicious detections, with no phishing-site finding.

Regulatory Verification Notes

The site presents official registration and contact details and operates as a public-sector information portal, not as a commercial financial or brokerage service. No commercial licensing claim is presented, so licensing verification is not the principal legitimacy issue for the described business model; any service reached through linked departments should be assessed against that service's own regulatory requirements. The available evidence supports an apparently legitimate established site, but does not independently verify the real-world operator identity. No broker-dataset match was identified; that is contextual reputational information only and is not a legal or licensing determination.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage and associated site content provide contact and official registration details.
- The site's stated function is publication of government information and access to public services, with no commercial transaction model identified.
- Hosted on AS24400 by CMNET-V4shanghai-AS-AP - Shanghai Mobile Communications Co.,Ltd., CN.
- TLS uses SHECA OV Server CA G5 with OV validation, subject organization 上海市大数据中心, valid to 2026-12-18.

What to Verify Next

Before credential or payment interactions initiated through a linked public service, confirm the specific service and its responsible department through an independently sourced municipal government directory or an offline official contact route. Confirm that any requested payment, document submission, or account process remains within the intended government-service workflow and uses the site's official domain or an independently corroborated government domain. For transactions involving an external provider, separately review that provider's identity, payment protections, and applicable authorization.

EVIDENCE

- The site links visitors to government departments and public-service procedures rather than presenting a standalone commercial offering.
- The homepage exposes navigation for government services, information disclosure, and citizen interaction.
- Behavioral testing recorded no external posts, no external form destinations, no hidden forms, and no wallet-related activity.

Summary Verdict

Available evidence is consistent with an established, apparently legitimate website. The overall posture is high trust and low risk, with no observed scam or impersonation contradiction. The remaining qualification is that the real-world operator identity is not independently verified by the supplied evidence.

Infrastructure Integrity

The site resolves directly without a detected CDN or WAF layer, with two IP addresses assessed as likely origin candidates. This is a neutral hosting characteristic rather than an indication of malicious activity; the infrastructure was successfully resolved and showed no confirmed abuse pattern.

Closing Assessment

Normal informational use is proportionate to the assessed posture, while credential or payment interactions should follow ordinary independent checks of the specific service, official contact route, and payment protections.

About this assessment

A trust score summarises the evidence TrustSniffer could collect about shanghai.gov.cn at assessment time. It is a starting point for your own judgement, not a guarantee: a high score means the signals were consistent with a legitimately operated site, a low or critical score means several risk patterns were present.

TrustSniffer assesses a website from the evidence it can collect at a point in time: domain registration and age, hosting and certificate, the content the site served, and third-party reputation feeds. A score is a summary of that evidence, not a guarantee and not a legal finding. There is no human rating and no user review in it. A site can change after it is assessed.
