Full analysis

Overview

Snapdeal is an established online shopping marketplace presenting discounted fashion, home and kitchen goods, electronics, beauty products, accessories, and other consumer merchandise, with seller participation, delivery, returns, customer support, and account-based purchasing features.

Scam/Impersonation Risk

No contradictions, phishing indicators, brand-impersonation signals, or malicious reputation findings were observed. The homepage presents a coherent ecommerce model with product listings, ratings, discounts, seller resources, delivery claims, and standard shopping functions; observed behavior also showed no hidden forms, wallet activity, suspicious scripts, or external posting activity. The unusually broad discounts are commercial merchandising signals rather than evidence of impersonation or fraud.

- Homepage: Product listings span fashion, electronics, home goods, beauty, sports, books, and accessories, with prices, discounts, ratings, and review counts.
- Homepage and shopping pages: "Free Delivery," "7 Days Easy Returns," "Help Center," "Sell on Snapdeal," login, cart, and app features are presented as part of a consistent marketplace experience.
- Browser behavior: Two successful runs recorded zero external XHR activity, zero hidden forms, zero wallet-connect activity, and no cloaking.
- External reputation checks: No malicious or suspicious detections, phishing findings, or blacklist hits were recorded.

Regulatory Verification Notes

The site provides company information, shopping policies, seller resources, delivery information, and returns content consistent with a mature consumer marketplace. No specific license, regulatory registration number, or licensing authority is evidenced in the supplied material; this is a transparency item for ordinary corporate and consumer-protection verification, not an indication of deception. Registration privacy is an administrative detail, while the domain's long operating history, established traffic footprint, clean reputation, and recognized registrar support the site's established identity.

- Domain registration: Registered 2002-09-25 (~23.86 years old), expiring 2027-09-25; registrar GoDaddy.com, LLC.
- Web archive: 5,000 snapshots spanning 2001–2020, covering 20 tracked years.

- Homepage: Company information, seller resources, shopping policies, delivery claims, and returns information are presented.
- Third-party broker context: No matching broker record was identified.

What to Verify Next

For institutional onboarding or higher-value commercial activity, confirm the marketplace’s current corporate identity and any applicable consumer-commerce registrations through the relevant official registry, and validate support and payment channels using independently sourced corporate contact information. Standard account login, purchasing, and ordinary marketplace use are appropriate.

- Company and policy pages: Corporate information, seller resources, delivery terms, and return policies are available for review.
- Homepage: Account login, cart, product search, category navigation, and seller participation are exposed through normal site functions.
- Technical behavior: No sensitive external form submission or hidden credential-collection behavior was observed.

Summary Verdict

Snapdeal is a legitimate, established, high-trust ecommerce marketplace with a coherent business model and no observed contradiction or impersonation signal. Normal interaction, including account login, account actions, and standard transactions, is appropriate.

Infrastructure Integrity

The site is served through Amazon infrastructure, which provides a mainstream hosting environment and reduces direct origin-exposure concerns as a mitigating technical factor. Transport encryption is active through a valid domain-validated certificate issued by Amazon RSA 2048 M04.

Closing Assessment

Prospective users and commercial partners may proceed with normal marketplace activity, applying standard procurement and payment controls proportionate to transaction value.

About this assessment

A trust score summarises the evidence TrustSniffer could collect about snapdeal.com at assessment time. It is a starting point for your own judgement, not a guarantee: a high score means the signals were consistent with a legitimately operated site, a low or critical score means several risk patterns were present.

TrustSniffer assesses a website from the evidence it can collect at a point in time: domain registration and age, hosting and certificate, the content the site served, and third-party reputation feeds. A score is a summary of that evidence, not a guarantee and not a legal finding. There is no human rating and no user review in it. A site can change after it is assessed.
