Full analysis

Overview

The website is an established English-language news publication covering national and regional affairs in Spain for expatriates, tourists, and other interested readers, supported by digital subscriptions, advertising, sponsored articles, and property-related promotion.

Scam/Impersonation Risk

No identity contradictions, brand impersonation, phishing indicators, or confirmed malicious reputation signals were observed. The account and newsletter functions are consistent with an established publication: neither form submitted sensitive information to an untrusted destination, and controlled interactions detected no hidden forms, credential forwarding, cloaking, wallet activity, or clipboard manipulation. Its substantial readership footprint and clean external reputation further support the conclusion that this is the legitimate Olive Press publication rather than a deceptive imitation.

- The homepage identifies itself as “Spain’s #1 Expat Newspaper” and presents extensive current coverage across Spanish regions and established editorial categories.
- The homepage contains two ordinary forms—newsletter registration and account access—with no sensitive external submission or hidden-form behavior detected.
- Reputation checks recorded 0 malicious and 0 suspicious classifications, no malicious safe-browsing finding, and no reported abuse associated with the observed delivery address.
- The domain is ranked 56,762 in the global traffic dataset, placing it within the top one million websites measured.

Regulatory Verification Notes

The publication presents a coherent commercial identity through a named Spanish operating company, physical address, subscription pricing, and privacy and related policy pages. Its stated activities are those of a news and media publisher, not a broker or other regulated financial-services provider; consequently, the absence of a financial licence claim is consistent with the disclosed business model rather than a legitimacy concern. No conflicting legal-entity names or misleading regulatory claims were identified.

- The homepage and associated publication pages identify the operating company and provide a physical contact address.
- The subscription interface discloses paid access, while the navigation separately identifies advertising, sponsored content, and property promotion.
- The site provides About Us, Contact, Privacy Policy, Distribution, and Digital Editions pages appropriate to its publishing operation.

- The homepage’s business and finance material appears within a broad editorial taxonomy rather than as an offer of brokerage or investment services.

What to Verify Next

Routine institutional onboarding may confirm the named operating company and payment descriptor against the site’s legal and subscription documentation. Organizations planning advertising, sponsored-content, or property-promotion engagements should also reconcile contracting and invoicing details through the publication’s independently confirmed business channels.

- The site supplies company and address information that can be matched against contracting documents.
- The subscription terms provide a basis for confirming charges and renewal conditions before purchase.
- Separate Advertise and Contact sections provide channels for validating commercial proposals.
- The Privacy Policy provides the relevant reference point for assessing personal-data handling requirements.

Summary Verdict

The website is legitimate, established, and trustworthy, with a coherent publisher identity, mature editorial operation, substantial audience presence, clean reputation, and normal account behavior. No contradictory evidence undermines its stated purpose or identity, and normal interaction—including account login, subscription use, and other standard activity—is appropriate.

Infrastructure Integrity

The site is delivered through Cloudflare’s CDN/WAF, with all four observed addresses belonging to Cloudflare edge infrastructure; this limits direct exposure of the origin server and provides a conventional protective layer, although infrastructure protection is not itself proof of legitimacy. Transport encryption is valid and uses domain validation.

- Served from AS13335 (CLOUDFLARENET – Cloudflare, Inc., US).
- Four Cloudflare edge addresses were observed, with no origin-server candidate exposed during the analysis.
- TLS certificate issued by WE1 (DV), valid to 2026-10-19.

Closing Assessment

Prospective users and enterprise counterparties may interact normally, applying standard account security and procurement controls appropriate to any established online publication.

About this assessment

A trust score summarises the evidence TrustSniffer could collect about theolivepress.es at assessment time. It is a starting point for your own judgement, not a guarantee: a high score means the signals were consistent with a legitimately operated site, a low or critical score means several risk patterns were present.

TrustSniffer assesses a website from the evidence it can collect at a point in time: domain registration and age, hosting and certificate, the content the site served, and third-party reputation feeds. A score is a summary of that evidence, not a guarantee and not a legal finding. There is no human rating and no user review in it. A site can change after it is assessed.
