Full analysis

Overview

TradeDealer is a corporate SaaS website presenting an online car-sales platform and related digital services for automotive manufacturers, dealer groups, banks, and other vehicle-sector organisations, with an apparent business model based on software, implementation, support, and consulting services.

Scam/Impersonation Risk

No contradictions were observed: the available evidence identifies no phishing, impersonation, blacklist, or malicious-content indicators. The site presents a coherent corporate marketing and lead-generation experience, including product information, support channels, contact forms, and no login or password-submission form. Automated interaction observed external requests and form activity, but no hidden forms, externally submitted password forms, wallet-drainer behaviour, cloaking, or other high-risk abuse pattern was identified. The long-running historical record and clean external reputation are consistent with an established website rather than a recently created impersonation page.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage presents TradeDealer as an automotive SaaS platform and was assessed with no page-level red flags or brand-impersonation indicators.
- The site's domain was registered on 2014-04-16 and is approximately 12.33 years old.
- Web archives contain 433 snapshots spanning 2014–2026, covering 13 tracked years.
- External reputation checks recorded 0 malicious detections, 0 suspicious detections, and a global traffic rank of 22865.

Regulatory Verification Notes

The About and corporate-content areas present company registration and address information, supporting a substantive business presentation, while the real-world operator remains independently unverified. The site does not claim a financial, banking, or insurance licence; its references to online credit and insurance appear within a broader automotive software offering and should not be treated as evidence that TradeDealer itself is a regulated financial provider. The available evidence therefore supports an apparently legitimate commercial SaaS operation, while the contracting entity and any regulated responsibilities associated with particular customer workflows require ordinary independent confirmation. No broker-dataset match or adverse third-party reputational signal was identified.

EVIDENCE

- The site's About, contact, and support content includes company details, an address, support channels, and lead-generation forms.
- The domain registrar is REGRU-RU.
- The site is served from AS57724, DDOS-GUARD - DDOS-GUARD LTD, RU.
- The transport certificate was issued by YR2 at DV validation level and is valid through 2026-10-21.

What to Verify Next

Before a commercial engagement, the prospective counterparty should independently match the contracting legal entity, registration details, and address shown on the corporate pages against authoritative business records and the proposed agreement. Any financial or insurance workflow embedded in a customer deployment should be assigned to the responsible licensed provider and checked with the relevant registry where applicable. Contract terms, data-processing responsibilities, support escalation arrangements, and payment-protection provisions should also be reviewed through independently confirmed corporate channels.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage and corporate sections identify the service scope, target customers, support arrangements, and contact mechanisms to be checked against contracting documentation.
- The site provides three contact or lead-generation forms, including a request-demo function, making it appropriate to confirm the receiving organisation before submitting business information.
- The site's stated products and services should be mapped to the responsibilities of the customer, TradeDealer, and any third-party service provider in the applicable contract.

Summary Verdict

Available evidence is consistent with an established, apparently legitimate website presenting a coherent and commercially plausible business. Its high-trust, low-risk posture is supported by sustained domain continuity, substantive corporate content, stable technical operation, and clean external reputation, although the operator's real-world identity is not independently verified.

Infrastructure Integrity

The site resolves directly to a hosting endpoint rather than a detected CDN edge, so the infrastructure provides less separation between the public service and its hosting endpoint than a CDN-fronted deployment would. DDOS-GUARD hosting is a mitigating availability and traffic-management signal, not proof of corporate legitimacy; the observed infrastructure indicators do not alter the overall low-risk assessment.

EVIDENCE

- Hosting is provided by DDOS-GUARD - DDOS-GUARD LTD, RU on AS57724.
- The resolved service has 1 unique IP, 0 detected edge IPs, and 1 likely origin IP.
- No CDN was detected.

Closing Assessment

Ordinary engagement is proportionate, subject to independent confirmation of the contracting entity, service terms, and payment protections before credentials or payments are provided.

About this assessment

A trust score summarises the evidence TrustSniffer could collect about tradedealer.ru at assessment time. It is a starting point for your own judgement, not a guarantee: a high score means the signals were consistent with a legitimately operated site, a low or critical score means several risk patterns were present.

TrustSniffer assesses a website from the evidence it can collect at a point in time: domain registration and age, hosting and certificate, the content the site served, and third-party reputation feeds. A score is a summary of that evidence, not a guarantee and not a legal finding. There is no human rating and no user review in it. A site can change after it is assessed.
