Full analysis

Overview

The website is Tricolor's official Russian satellite-television and digital-media service portal, presenting subscription packages, online cinema and streaming content, satellite internet, equipment sales, customer support, payments, loyalty benefits, and customer account access. Its apparent business model combines recurring media subscriptions, one-time device purchases, and related digital and telecommunications services.

Scam/Impersonation Risk

No contradictions were observed. The site's stated identity, service catalogue, customer-support structure, and account functions are coherent with an established telecommunications and media operator. Account login and customer-ID functions are presented as ordinary service operations rather than as abnormal credential-collection mechanisms; behavioral testing found no hidden forms, cloaking, wallet activity, clipboard manipulation, suspicious scripts, or untrusted form destinations. External reputation checks recorded no malicious or suspicious detections, no blacklist result, and no brand-impersonation indicators.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage identifies Tricolor as a digital-environment operator and presents television, online cinema, subscriptions, equipment, payments, support, and customer account services.
- The domain was registered on 2001-09-18 and is approximately 24.91 years old.
- Historical records contain 376 archive snapshots from 2007-03-31 through 2026-05-30, covering 20 tracked years with continuous historical activity.
- The homepage's account-ID and login functions were observed without hidden forms, external password forms, or suspicious interactive behavior.

Regulatory Verification Notes

The site presents a mature commercial service model with company, contact, support, business, partner, employment, and customer-service sections. No license claim or license number is presented in the supplied site material; this is a disclosure item for regulatory verification, not evidence of deception or identity conflict. The registration and transport-security details provide additional administrative and technical grounding, while external broker-style intelligence produced no matching result and should not be treated as a licensing determination.

EVIDENCE

- The domain registrar is RU-CENTER-RU.
- Hosting resolves through AS43298, StormNetworks - Storm Networks LLC, RU.
- The transport certificate is issued by GlobalSign RSA OV SSL CA 2018 at OV validation level and is valid to 2026-11-12.
- The site's company and contact areas provide operational information for customers, business users, partners, and support matters.

What to Verify Next

For institutional onboarding or regulated use, the relevant Russian corporate, communications, or consumer-services registry should be checked against the legal entity responsible for the specific service or transaction. Subscription terms, payment conditions, refund provisions, and any service-specific regulatory disclosures should also be reviewed before a material commercial commitment. Customer-support details should be confirmed through an independently sourced official channel where a transaction or account-recovery request is involved.

EVIDENCE

- The site provides "About the company," contacts, support, business, partner, and customer-payment areas.
- Subscription and service pages distinguish multiple packages and service categories, allowing the applicable commercial terms to be matched to the intended purchase.
- The site provides customer account and subscription-check functions that can be reconciled with the relevant customer record before account changes are made.

Summary Verdict

The website has a high-trust, established-service posture. Its coherent corporate purpose, sustained public presence, clean reputation, and normal service-portal behavior support legitimate use for account access, subscription management, payments, and standard customer transactions.

Infrastructure Integrity

The site resolves directly to a single origin address, with no detected CDN or WAF layer and no edge-IP distribution identified. This architecture offers less intermediary shielding than a CDN-fronted deployment, but it is a neutral infrastructure characteristic in this assessment and does not contradict the site's established identity or clean observed behavior.

Closing Assessment

Normal interaction, including account login, subscription management, payments, and standard purchases, is appropriate; higher-value institutional engagement should follow the organization's ordinary procurement and registry-verification controls.

About this assessment

A trust score summarises the evidence TrustSniffer could collect about tricolor.ru at assessment time. It is a starting point for your own judgement, not a guarantee: a high score means the signals were consistent with a legitimately operated site, a low or critical score means several risk patterns were present.

TrustSniffer assesses a website from the evidence it can collect at a point in time: domain registration and age, hosting and certificate, the content the site served, and third-party reputation feeds. A score is a summary of that evidence, not a guarantee and not a legal finding. There is no human rating and no user review in it. A site can change after it is assessed.
