Full analysis

Overview

Trip Store is an Argentine ecommerce storefront selling branded footwear, sportswear, and accessories to consumers through an online catalogue and a stated network of physical stores, with account, cart, payment, delivery, exchange, and returns functionality supporting its retail model.

Scam/Impersonation Risk

No identity contradictions, phishing indicators, brand impersonation, or deceptive financial features were observed. The domain's long operating history, continuous archival presence, established traffic footprint, and clean external reputation converge with the coherent retail content to support the conclusion that this is a legitimate, established website.

- The homepage presents a consistent Trip Store retail identity, extensive merchandise listings, visible prices, and ordinary ecommerce purchase actions.
- The domain was registered in 2017 and is approximately 9 years old.
- The web archive records 106 snapshots from 2017-06-06 through 2026-04-10, spanning 10 tracked years, with no suspicious repurposing or semantic drift established.
- External reputation checks recorded 0 malicious and 0 suspicious detections, no threat-list finding, no reported infrastructure abuse, and placement within the top one million globally ranked domains.

Regulatory Verification Notes

Trip Store operates as a conventional consumer retailer rather than a regulated financial or investment service, so the absence of a financial-services licence claim is consistent with the stated business model. The domain registration identifies STADIO UNO S.A. as the owner and nicar as the registrar. The supplied homepage indicates company background and customer-service information, although the evidence does not establish the extent to which formal corporate particulars are reproduced in its legal pages.

- The domain-registration record names STADIO UNO S.A. as owner and nicar as registrar, with registration expiring on 2026-09-01.
- The homepage describes installment-payment, shipping, exchange, and return arrangements applicable to consumer retail purchases.
- The site's transport encryption uses a YR2-issued domain-validated TLS certificate valid until 2026-09-07.
- Hosting telemetry identifies AS14618, operated by AMAZON-AES — Amazon.com, Inc., US.

What to Verify Next

For higher-value purchases or enterprise onboarding, the purchasing entity should confirm that the merchant name shown during checkout matches the documented corporate identity, review the applicable terms and returns conditions, and validate any claimed physical outlet through an independent business directory or offline channel. Official customer-service channels should also be confirmed independently before resolving payment or account disputes.

- The homepage provides links to physical-store locations, creating an independently testable retail-presence claim.
- The storefront exposes pricing and cart controls that allow the merchant identity and payment recipient to be checked before transaction completion.
- The homepage includes FAQs and customer-service information that can be compared with the contractual terms presented during checkout.

Summary Verdict

The website has a high-trust posture and is assessed as a legitimate, established ecommerce operation. Its coherent commercial identity, durable provenance, clean threat reputation, and mature retail presentation provide mutually reinforcing evidence of authenticity, with no contradictory risk signals observed. Normal interaction, including account login and standard purchases, is appropriate.

Infrastructure Integrity

The site uses AWS edge protection and WAF/CDN architecture. The observed address was an AWS edge endpoint, while the origin was shielded from direct exposure; this is a conventional defensive configuration that reduces origin-server attack surface but is not, by itself, proof of business legitimacy.

Closing Assessment

Prospective customers may use the site normally, applying standard ecommerce controls such as reviewing order terms and retaining transaction records, while organizations considering a formal supplier relationship should complete their usual counterparty due diligence.

About this assessment

A trust score summarises the evidence TrustSniffer could collect about tripstore.com.ar at assessment time. It is a starting point for your own judgement, not a guarantee: a high score means the signals were consistent with a legitimately operated site, a low or critical score means several risk patterns were present.

TrustSniffer assesses a website from the evidence it can collect at a point in time: domain registration and age, hosting and certificate, the content the site served, and third-party reputation feeds. A score is a summary of that evidence, not a guarantee and not a legal finding. There is no human rating and no user review in it. A site can change after it is assessed.
