Full analysis

Overview

This website is the institutional web presence of Universidad Nacional del Litoral (UNL), presenting academic units, admissions, student services, research, cultural programmes, news, events, governance information, and contact details for an educational and public-service audience.

Scam/Impersonation Risk

No scam, phishing, blacklist, or confirmed impersonation contradictions were observed. The homepage and institutional navigation consistently identify Universidad Nacional del Litoral and provide university-specific sections such as academic faculties, admissions, authorities, research, student services, and contact information. A naming-similarity signal associated the site with “un.org,” but the site’s substantive content is clearly centred on UNL and no supporting phishing or impersonation indicators were found; this is therefore treated as a non-confirmatory similarity signal rather than an identity contradiction. The reviewed pages do not request payment or investment, and no login form, wallet connection, hidden sensitive form, clipboard manipulation, or suspicious script behaviour was detected.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage identifies “UNL – Universidad Nacional del Litoral” and links to academic units, admissions, authorities, research, events, and student services.
- The site’s observed behaviour recorded no login form, hidden form, wallet connection, wallet-drainer activity, clipboard write, cloaking, or suspicious inline scripts.
- External reputation checks recorded 0 malicious detections, 0 suspicious detections, and no confirmed blacklist result; the site held traffic rank 36101 and was within the top 1,000,000 sites.

Regulatory Verification Notes

The website presents an apparently legitimate academic and institutional purpose, with identifiable university content, governance-related navigation, and contact information. Its identity is apparent from the pages examined but remains unverified as an independently connected real-world operator, so the on-site presentation should not be treated as conclusive proof of legal identity. The site does not make a financial-services licensing claim or display a licence number in the reviewed content; for a university information service this is not, by itself, evidence of wrongdoing, but it is a relevant disclosure point if a proposed interaction involves payments, enrolment fees, donations, or other sensitive transactions. A separate broker-reputation dataset produced no match and provides only contextual support.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage and navigation expose “La UNL,” “Gobierno,” “Autoridades,” “Gobierno Abierto,” “Auditoría Interna,” admissions, and contact sections.
- The site is served from AS27993, identified as Universidad Nacional del Litoral, AR.
- The transport certificate is issued by YR2, uses DV validation, and is valid to 2026-10-30.

What to Verify Next

Before any sensitive or high-value interaction, independently confirm that the intended service belongs to Universidad Nacional del Litoral through an established university directory or an independently obtained institutional contact route. Where a transaction or formal enrolment process is involved, confirm the applicable fee, recipient, terms, and return or dispute process through the university’s independently verified administrative channel. Any authentication or payment destination should be checked to ensure it remains within the institution’s verified web estate.

EVIDENCE

- The homepage provides institutional contact information, including an address and email channel, suitable for cross-checking through an independent source.
- The reviewed page set contains admissions, student-services, governance, and administrative navigation but no visible payment or investment solicitation.
- The site’s observed page behaviour completed successfully in 2 runs, with no untrusted form destination or external password form detected.

Summary Verdict

The overall posture is moderate trust: the website appears consistent with a legitimate institutional information service and no active scam or impersonation contradiction was observed. Confidence is limited by the absence of independent operator verification, so the site should not be treated as fully authenticated for sensitive or high-value activity.

Infrastructure Integrity

The site resolves directly to one identified origin rather than a CDN or WAF edge, with hosting attributed to AS27993 – Universidad Nacional del Litoral, AR. This direct institutional hosting attribution is a useful consistency signal, but infrastructure alignment alone does not establish legal identity; the site’s valid DV TLS certificate provides transport protection for the connection.

Closing Assessment

Normal informational browsing is proportionate to the available evidence, while sensitive or high-value actions should proceed only after independent confirmation of the intended institutional service and transaction channel.

About this assessment

A trust score summarises the evidence TrustSniffer could collect about unl.edu.ar at assessment time. It is a starting point for your own judgement, not a guarantee: a high score means the signals were consistent with a legitimately operated site, a low or critical score means several risk patterns were present.

TrustSniffer assesses a website from the evidence it can collect at a point in time: domain registration and age, hosting and certificate, the content the site served, and third-party reputation feeds. A score is a summary of that evidence, not a guarantee and not a legal finding. There is no human rating and no user review in it. A site can change after it is assessed.
